Crime Report Tells Little That Most People Already Know

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor

The same evening that the State's amazing Crime Commission findings were being reported with blazing headlines in Boston's newspapers, we watched our waitress pick up a paper abandoned by a departing patron. He scanned it hastily.

Before taking our order she apologized. "I was looking for today's number," she said, "but I guess it's too early." She didn't glance at the full treatment the Crime Commission report was getting. In an hour or so—in restaurants and at street corners; in barbershops and on (TA) trains; at cigar counters and in elevator cars; in armchairs with sawdust on the floor and cocktail lounges with broadheads—folks all over town would be posing the same question.

"What's today's number?"

We don't know how much per day the waitress invests. We don't know how much all the people who ask at question invest (if invest is the word) in a day or a week or a month or a year. It might be the $2 billion the majority membership of the Commission reported. It is only the $1 billion the majority asserted.

Testimonial Dinner Next Wednesday for Miss March

Miss Mildred March, retired principal of the John Ward School in this city, is to be honored at a dinner Wednesday evening April 10 at the Meadowbrook Junior high school. Miss March had been principal of the John Ward School from its inception in 1928 until 1956.

Miss March was born and raised in Rochester, N. H., where she now lives with her parents. Plymouth Teacher's College in Plymouth, N. H., was her alma mater and she graduated from there in 1917.

She later taught in Rochester, N. H., for a year, then a year at Exeter and then returned to the model school in Plymouth. Before becoming principal of the John Ward School, she had also taught at the Burr school and the Warren Junior high school.

She holds a Master's degree from Boston University and has taught in summer schools at the Teachers College in New Hampshire. She has also conducted workshops in elementary education at the University of Pennsylvania, at the Hampton Institute at Hampton, Virginia, and at Boston University. She is a past president of the Massachusetts Association of Childhood Education, and also was on the National Committee of Childhood Education representing the intermediate grades. She also taught a course in "School Procedures for Principals and Supervisors" at Johns Hopkins University in the summer school.

Other than courses in teaching methods, she has taught intercultural relationship. She led a workshop on "Schools for Democracy" held in Chicago, sponsored by the National Education Policies Commission, which was represented by people selected for their educational interest. The John Ward school was listed by the N. E. P. C., as one of the one hundred best schools in the United States.

Besides all this, she lectured to numerous P.T.A. groups in Haverhill, North Attleboro, and Pawtucket, R. I., and was a frequent guest as a panel member for Channel 2's educational program.

Through the years, Miss March had visitors from as far away as South Africa, China, and South America, who came to observe her methods at the John Ward school. Her fame as an educator is international.

In 1953, the New York State Department of Education did a survey of fifteen outstanding schools in the states of Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and the John Ward school was one of those to be observed.

Over 60,000 Boxes of Cookies Sold

More than 60,000 boxes of Girl Scout cookies were sold by Newton Scouts and Brownies during the 1957 cookie sale, resulting in approximately $8,000 in funds for the Newton Council's camping and troop activities. It was announced today by Mrs. Harry Shwachman, city-wide chairman.

The annual event, sole fundraising activity scheduled by Newton Girl Scouts during the year, was pronounced successful by sale officials despite heavy rains the first day, which prevented the young saleswomen from starting their door-to-door canvass on schedule.

The five varieties of cookies ordered by Newton residents arrived at the "cookie cupboards" Tuesday and Wednesday, and the delivery will be made to purchasers this week.

Issue Back To Original Situation

Overturing the report of the joint Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, which last week voted to kill the proposal to have the MTA build an extension over the Highland branch of the Boston & Albany railroad, the House of Representatives Monday by a roll-call vote of 120 to 108, sent the bill back to the committee for "further study."

This action by the House was hailed as a "victory" by Joseph S. Slavet, executive secretary of the Boston Municipal Research Bureau, one of which sponsored the original proposal.

Slavet also stated that the proponents of the bill got another boost Monday with the announcement that the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad had requested increased rates for commuter fares. This, he intimated, may be a "prelude for a new schedule request by the Boston & Albany."

According to Slavet, if the Boston & Albany asks for a rate increase comparable to that requested by the New Haven, the fare from Riverside to Boston would climb from 31 cents to 40 cents, or exactly twice the fare that would be charged if the line were operated by the MTA.

The action of the House came about when it was presented by Rep. George V. Keneally, Jr., of Dorchester, one of the three dissenting members of the committee, who moved that it be sent back to the committee.

He suggested that the proposal could be tied in with Gov. Foster Furcolo's recommendation for a mass transportation study.

Recommittal of the bill is one way of keeping the legislation alive and it could possibly be the basis of another bill if the B&A should move to discontinue service on the Highland branch. Some Newton and Brookline leaders, who oppose the legislation at present, have been recorded in favor of a study.

As a result of this latest move Newton, particularly, now faces a two-front fight in its transportation problem. One, of course, is the toll road extension through the heart of the city, and the other is the possibility of either a fare increase on the B&A lines, or petition for complete abandonment of the Highland branch by the railroad.

Should the latter result, the transportation of the commuting public, to some degree, would be seriously jeopardized. And, some say, that if abandoned

Grade Schools Here May Get Half-Hour of TV Per Day

By PHYLLIS B. NEWTON

In-school television, teaching tool of the electronic age, may become a reality in 56 Greater Boston communities, including Newton, as early as next year.

A Newton school board member, Mrs. Grace C. Whitmore, is chairman of the television committee of the Massachusetts Association of School Committees, now engaged in a study of the various aspects of in-school TV for Greater Boston.

Mrs. Whitmore reports that school officials in 56 out of the 68 communities in Area 2 (Greater Boston) are overwhelmingly in favor of the in-school television proposals outlined in recent meetings with her committee. Newton is among the cities enthused about the possibilities.

Tentative plans under consideration by the committee call for a half-hour program, five days a week, to be transmitted to the cooperating communities.

The program would be received on regular TV sets installed in each school, as well as on home television.

The elementary schools appear to be the best area in which to begin the experiment, with one TV set per school necessary at the outset. There is a possibility that local PTA's may be interested in providing these sets.

The cost of staff services and broadcasting by WGBH for this half-hour period for the school year would be approximately $60,000, to be divided among the participating communities. Newton's share would be about $4,000 — or about the annual salary of one teacher.

The burden of program planning and teaching talent would be borne by the cooperating school systems, with colleges, museums and other agencies participating.

At its March 12 meeting the school committee discussed the question of asking for an appropriation of 25c per pupil to finance the program, but no action was taken. It would be possible to use some money already appropriated for audio-visual aids in the 1958 budget.

Viewed as an enrichment of the school curriculum, in-school TV would give the youngsters the benefit of the very best teachers in many specialized fields. It would also bring people and materials into the classroom that the regular teachers could not possibly provide.

Types of programs under consideration that lend themselves particularly well to TV presentation are:

1. Interviews with outstanding public figures or important visitors to the city scaled to the understanding of young people
2. Elementary science programs that would use specialized equipment not generally available in grade schools.
3. Children's Theatre productions.
4. Fine music played by well-known musicians.
5. Foreign language at the grade school level taught with specialized techniques by exceptional teachers.

The role of the class room teacher has been given careful study in the event such a program should go into effect. Teachers would receive manuals on the study techniques involved in this new teaching medium. Their job would be to prepare the class with pertinent background material, and to answer children's queries after the program. They would have an opportunity to evaluate each program in terms of its effect on the class, so that superior programming could gradually evolve. It is hoped that some of Newton's own excellent teaching personnel would be selected to participate in the actual TV teaching.

The school superintendents who have attended the exploratory meetings are reported to favor in-school TV not just as entertainment but as a means of helping the teacher to do a better job.

Dr. J. Bernard Everett, director of instruction here, has studied the success of the new medium in other cities such as St. Louis and Cincinnati, where it is an established part of the curriculum. He is a supporter of the idea, and believes it would improve and enrich what is now being taught... particularly with the tremendous human and cultural resources in the Boston area. Dr. Everett has said that "a good TV program can help a good teacher teach better."

Winter Carnival Thoroughly Enjoyed

Undisturbed by conflicting reports as to ski conditions, over 100 Explorer Boy Scouts and Senior Girl Scouts of Norumbega Council, and their leaders, gathered recently at Purity Springs Lodge in East Madison, New Hampshire, for their annual Winter Carnival.

The program, which had been planned by a committee headed by Salvatore DeFina, Jr., of Wellesley Hills, was a busy and exciting one. Chosen as King of the Carnival was Chris Lee of Newton Centre, and Maureen Carey of Wellesley was chosen Queen. Their court included Betty Anderson, Margot Breck, Marilyn Pratt, Carol Rush, John Cannon, Dick Kaplan, Tony Parker, and Pete Traynor. Under these royal auspices a most hilarious Balloon Race was held on a somewhat damp slope which was won by the King's team. The Obstacle Race which followed had the following results:

Girls — 1st Place, Betsy Clifton; 2nd Place, Betty Anderson; 3rd Place, Bee Nugent.

Boys — Bill Bedford, Terry Wright, Chris Lee.

In spite of the active day, everyone called on reserved forces of energy for a lively square dance that evening, called by Ralph Acker of Madison, formerly of Wellesley.

Sunday morning, after Scouts' own services in the barn, and Catholic Mass in Conway, the active program was resumed. Due to prudent use of the available ski slopes, there was good skiing for the Slalom Races, and the winners were as follows:

Girls — 1st Novice, Margot Breck; 2nd Novice, Bobby Fish; 1st Advanced, Betsy Clifton; 2nd Advanced, Betty Anderson.

Boys — 1st Novice, Harper Lewitt; 2nd Novice, Ed Schmidt;

1st Advanced, Terry Wright; 2nd Advanced, Bill Bedford.

Throughout the week-end there was general skiing and first-class instruction available for everyone, under the leadership of William Cruikshank and Robert Lewis, with ample opportunity for full participation by all Scouts, including 4 boys who passed their Ski Merit badge requirements. They were: Edward Schmidt, Post 87; Jerry Shannon, Troop 11; James Durdick, Troop 2-W; and Robert Holmes. The week-end was so successful that it was decided, on the spot, to return next year.

ment of the Highland branch of the B&A and possible curtailment of service by the New Haven, which is always a possibility, then the position of the Toll Road authorities in their determination to push the extension through this city, would be greatly strengthened.

In the meantime, Newton officials are marking time in an effort to determine the proper course of action to take and the course which will be for the best interests of the community.

It is relatively certain, however, that when the study is reported out of committee for action in the legislature, a fight against its adoption will be made, particularly by Newton and Brookline officials and legislators. Whether they can muster enough strength to defeat such a proposal is a matter of conjecture. The action by the House on Monday, however, puts the whole matter right back where it was originally.

While cataloguing was being completed, the 25 mothers who will act as librarians were ironing out their procedural program.

Last week Miss Solmaz Izdemir of Ankara, Turkey, a student of Library Science at Rutgers University, spent the day studying the library and the manner in which it was organized. This was one of four days devoted by her to the study of libraries in and around

Political Overtones

Whatever the total—and it's tremendous—it's money which Massachusetts can ill afford to lose from its economy. A large percentage, maybe as high as 90 per cent, comes out of the pockets of those Bay Staters who can least afford its loss.

It's money that doesn't put a roast beef in the oven for the countless thousands who are always just missing that "big hit." It's money that doesn't pay the rent or the mortgage tab for the month. It's just money that enables a lot of hoodlums to know the better things in life—like $50,000 homes, custom-made suits, Cadillacs and the blue-smoke atmosphere of a Miami night club, while thousands of other Massachusetts citizens are wondering how they'll meet the mounting oil bill.

The State Crime Commission's report on illegal gambling ran to two big volumes. It was a frightful waste of good white paper. The Commission could have saved quite a bit on its expense allowance. It could have confined its amazing report to one thin little volume. All it had to do would have been to comb out the generalities. Of course, there wouldn't have been much left.

And there wouldn't have been anything left at all if the Crime Commission hadn't decided to tell the people of the Commonwealth a lot of things which all but the naive had known for a long time.

It's apparent from the report that the Crime Commission convinced itself that illegal gambling couldn't exist on its present scale unless a large number of persons sworn to enforce the State's laws were closing their eyes. That's one of the things the public has known for such a sickening long time.

What the public wanted to know and what it had a right to expect to be informed in one or both of those big volumes was—just what police departments; just what police officials; just what law enforcement officers were "in" on the deals. It would have liked to know, too, just what steps were to be taken to expose those law enforcement officers so that they could be stripped of their authority and placed where they belong.

The public likewise knew that a lot of hoodlums—who neither work nor worry too much—were not only rich and getting richer but were associating with folks high up on the social, legal and even the judicial scale. It knew, likewise, that some were sharing tiny bits of their wealth with the causes of the Do-Gooders.

On the other hand the public was hardly prepared for stiff over-dose review of the sin-makers of another generation. There isn't a newspaper morgue in the State which couldn't have handed over to the Crime Commission shoe boxes loaded with yellow clippings if that's what the Commission had in mind. It could have wound up its life in a few days if that was what it was seeking.

Boston Is Nerve Center

Much of the commission's report concerned Boston's place in the scheme of things. The commission found the Hub the nerve centre of the entire operation. That follows, too, because it's also the nerve centre of just about everything else in the Commonwealth. Besides, it has the most people.

Still, it's surprising the amount of space Boston was given in the valuable white paper. The surprise comes from the fact that it wasn't until the last days of its expected existence that the Boston papers were announcing with breathless anticipation—"Crime Commission to Probe Boston." Its chairman, it was reported, was down Florida way taking a little vacation.

Principal witness called before the Commission at the State House after it turned its attention to the Hub was a character named Mike Morelli, who had a deep voice, an aversion to having his picture made and a long record.

Mike hardly had time enough to pick up his things, belt a news photographer to the corridor floor and go his way before the acting chairman was announcing that the commission couldn't put any faith in the testimony he had given.

There was another element of surprise on the Boston angle when the two volumes were yielded for perusal. Quite a bit of the text devoted itself to the allegation that the Chinese in Chinatown are addicted to fan-tan, a version of number pool and allied arts practiced in the worship of Lady Luck.

They haven't changed the least bit, it seems, since the almost forgotten era of Oliver B. Garrett's police days he and his squad used to sweep into Chinatown and cart away wagonloads of laundries and waiters who were spending the Sabbath with cards in their hands or funny looking dominoes on the tables in front of them.

What the Crime Commission did in its report was to picture Boston as another Chicago of the Al Capone era and the quiet town of Winthrop as a little Chicago.

That not only is absurd and unjustified but, unfortunately, it came at a time when Boston was getting tremendous beneficial advertising sportswise, and public and civic leaders headed by Mayor John B. Hynes were trying to build up the city's good name and bring new enterprises to it.

All the rest of the cities and towns which the report came out and named with bold, unabashed directness are probably afflicted with the same post-prohibition blight which is making or has made rich men out of hoodlums and paupers or near-paupers out of those who think even a sure thing can be beaten—sometimes.

But Massachusetts is no better nor worse than any other industrial State in this very real problem, probably the worst of all the crime problems. Boston and Winthrop are no better and no worse than New York, N. Y., and East Islip, N. Y.

Organized crime exists, as the report points out. It's than it has done to date.

not only siphoning off hundreds of thousands of dollars of good money into the greasy hands of the very worst element of society but also to those who daily betray their public trust as well.

The millions of dollars the vicious hoodlums and trust-betrayers split up each year could be used to hasten the day when cancer would be a disease of the past. They could be used to build the schools that are so badly needed.

The task undertaken by the Crime Commission was not an easy one. Maybe, it didn't have enough money to produce the results the public had a right to expect. Maybe, the men who made it up were of too high a type for the job. Maybe, they didn't have enough time. Whatever the reason, the report they filed falls far short of the goal which was fixed for them.

This observer, for one, doesn't believe the people of Massachusetts got their money's worth from the Crime Commission. After the froth was stripped away from its report, the Commission said virtually nothing that hadn't been said before.

Because no one wants to take any action that could possibly be construed as hindering an investigation of crime, a bill to extend the commission's life for another two months undoubtedly will be approved by the Legislature.

Perhaps in its final report the commission will do more to justify itself and the public funds it has expended

Meisinger Award Given Newton Man

The Meisinger Award of the American Meteorological Society "for his original and pioneering contributions in the field of radar meteorology" has been awarded a 33-year-old Newton Centre scientist.

The award was made to Dr. David Atlas of 62 Wiswall rd., last week at the M.I.T. faculty club as part of the three-day weather radar conference of which he is program chairman. Dr. Atlas, who is in charge of the Blue Hills weather radar unit of the Air Force Cambridge Research, is considered one of the foremost authorities in this branch of weather research.

The award, originated in 1924 in memory of Clarence Leroy Meisinger, who was killed in a balloon accident while doing thunderstorm research, was tendered Dr. Atlas by Dr. Robert D. Fletcher, American Meteorological Society president.

In deciding upon this year's winner, the A.M.S. took cognizance of the tremendous impact upon meteorology and aviation of the developments in weather-mapping radar.

"This single development," the A.M.S. announced, "has contributed to the advancing of safety comfort and efficiency of passenger and military aircraft operations."

"In the field of meteorology, radar has permitted great advances in the understanding and forecasting of hurricanes, tornadoes, squall lines and other frontal conditions."

Dr. Atlas has been identified with weather radar since its inception in World War II. He invented a device that has made possible a more thorough analysis of the picture on the radar screen. In addition he has written numerous papers that have served as guides in subsequent radar research.

The application of radar in the study of severe storms highlighted sessions of the conference.

Ralph J. Donaldson, Jr., an associate of Dr. Atlas, showed photographs of the radar scope as it appeared when it picked up the echo of the storm that caused two New England tornadoes in June, 1956.

DEATHS

CARRIE ROTHSTEIN

Private funeral services were held earlier this week for Carrie Rothstein, 17-year old Newton High School honor student, who died of accidental asphyxiation in the garage of her West Newton home last Saturday afternoon.

A Kenyon scholar and president of the English Club at high school, Miss Rothstein was overcome by carbon monoxide as she presumably taught herself to operate the family's second car. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Emil Rothstein, of 42 Oldham road, returned from a shopping trip to find her overcome with the motor of the car running.

Besides her parents, she leaves a brother, Eric, a senior at Harvard College.

PAULINE T. HOULIHAN

Mrs. Pauline T. (Boron) Houlihan, a native of Austria and a Chestnut Hill resident for the past year, died at her home on March 31, following several weeks' illness.

Mrs. Houlihan, 68, had lived most of her life in Chicopee where her late husband, Henry F. Houlihan, was in business. Before moving to 214 Beacon street, Newton, she lived for five years in Brookline.

She is survived by four daughters, Pauline, Margaret, and Frances of Newton, and Mrs. Veronica Tufts of Brookline. She also leaves two sons, H. Francis of Newton, and Robert K., a Connecticut physician.

JAMES J. HOSFORD

A High Requiem Mass was celebrated on Monday morning at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church for James J. Hosford, 73, formerly of Upper Falls, who died last Saturday at the home of a sister in Waverly. He was the husband of the

True Patriotism

Daniel Webster once said, "God grants liberty only to those who love it, and are ready to guard and defend it." The history of our country proves that freedom, our most precious heritage, must be re-won in every generation. There is always a battle to fight, a victory to win.

Patriots have never hesitated to risk, and often to give their lives in the defense of freedom. For they know that without freedom, life would be intolerable.

Benjamin Franklin said, "Where liberty dwells, there is my country." It is related that when John Adams was dying on the 4th of July, he heard cannons being fired in celebration of Independence Day. His last words were: "Independence forever."

Do we have an enemy to face today? Does danger confront us? Yes, we certainly have the menace of world Communism.

But more dangerous even than that is the enemy of domestic crime and juvenile delinquency. It is disturbing to know that the F.B.I. has on file the fingerprints of six million known criminals.

We cannot hope to win victory over foreign enemies unless we can win victories at home. The victories at home should be won in the home.

It is only when the parents of America take the lead, and set godly examples for their children, that juvenile delinquency and crime may be banished.

Church Women to Greet New Group

The fifteenth birthday of the United Church Women of Newton, a subsidiary of the Newton Council of Churches, will be celebrated when delegates from the twenty-two member churches meet and welcome a twenty-third member tomorrow (Friday) morning, at 10 a.m. in the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale. Past presidents will be honored, the work of the past fifteen years will be reviewed, and current projects will be presented. Mrs. James H. Burns, president, will preside at the meeting which has been planned and arranged by Mrs. Wallace M. Ross, chairman of Christian World Missions.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal Church will be welcomed as a new group in the United Church Women. Representing St. Paul's women will be Mrs. John Fox, president, and Mrs. John M. Balcorn, wife of the pastor.

Preceding the meeting, coffee will be served by the Woman's Guild of the Church of the Messiah, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Philip Carter. Mrs. Anthony Jauregui and Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, past presidents of the United Church Women of Newton, will pour.

The first three presidents will bring greetings to the delegates. Mrs. Kristin Juthe was the group's first president. Mrs. Frank Jennings was the second and Mrs. Randolph Merrill, the third. Mrs. Hugh Robinson, immediate past president, will review the accomplishments of the fifteen years the association has been in existence.

Projects which the United Church Women help to support will be presented. Dr. Balwin Callahan will speak on work among the migrants. Mrs. Emil Hartl will outline the work of the Massachusetts Council of Churches. Miss Charlotte Nelson will describe the program of the Protestant Guild for the Blind. Mrs. Lloyd Beebe, wife of the Protestant Chaplain at Boston City Hospital, will explain the function of Monks Chapel at the hospital.

The International Christian University of Japan will be described by Mrs. Anton Fried.

Baker Foundation Selects Newton For Guidance Project

Newton's School Department can chalk up another "first" with the announcement that the Judge Baker Guidance Center will spend $250,000 to conduct a three-year pilot program here in cooperation with this city's Division of Counseling Services.

The unprecedented project is being made possible by a grant from the National Institute for Mental Health, a federal agency. The purpose of the program which will begin in September, is to observe whether a staff of trained psychologists, psychiatrists and social workers can function more efficiently if located within a school system.

The cost to Newton for the entire three-year period will be $16,000, which will be used to renovate the top floor of the old Peirce School, where the Division of Counseling is now located. The Board of Aldermen last week approved the appropriation of this money. The city will be required to bear no further costs.

According to Dr. Edward Landy, head of the Division of Counseling, the increased personnel will help to treat a greater number of cases and to treat them more intensively. The present staff includes five psychologists, a visiting psychiatrist, three speech and hearing therapists, a remedial reading teacher, an attendance supervisor, a supervisor of special education, and a school social worker.

On the project staff will be four regular staff members from Judge Baker, a psychiatrist, a clinical psychologist, a social case worker, and a remedial educator. Dr. Irving Kaufman, chief psychiatrist at Judge Baker will direct the program. Dr. Landy and Mrs. Frances D. Forgie of his department will coordinate, plan, and help select personnel.

Children with learning difficulties, and behavior or personality problems will be referred to the center for study, and free counseling services will be available to parents and teachers as well.

The Baker Foundation had previously worked with Dr. Landy's department on studies of "school phobia" and of "learning difficulties." They applied to the NIMH for the funds and hope to discover through the program whether early identification and treatment of personality programs can be more effectively done by a staff within a school system.

Teachers and principals within the School Department will be able to attend special seminars to help them spot children with personality difficulties and get help in learning how to deal with them.

DOROTHY O'CONNOR

Plays Part of "Claudia" in Religious Drama

Miss Dorothy O'Connor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. O'Connor of 315 Bellevue st., Newton, portrays Claudia Procula, the regal wife of Pilate in the powerful religious drama, "Pilate's Daughter," now being presented at St. Alphonsus Hall, Boston.

Procula is a picture of pale indecision as to the outcome of her husband's verdict of the Nazarene's fate. When she finally leaves thought for action, it is too late.

Since 1902, almost two million viewers have relived the Crucifixion of Christ, the faith of a young Christian martyr, and the miracles which she performed with her mystical rose as portrayed in the powerful religious drama.

The author, Reverend Francis Kenzel, C.S.S.R., a Redemptorist Missionary, based his drama on the legend of a rose which was tossed to Christ as He stumbled along to Calvary. The rose touched Christ's garment and therefore never withered.

Boston Ballet Company Dances For Pupils

Tuesday afternoon, Mar. 26, at the Auburndale Club, the Newton division classes of the Alicia Langford Boston Ballet School were treated to a ballet performance by the Boston Ballet Company. This talented young group presented for the pupils and their friends four different types of dances; a white Ballade of Chopin; the pas de deux and variations from the ballet "Sylvia" by Delibes; a character suite of native dances of different countries, ending with an American jazz number; and a ballet which tells a story, the Dance of the House, by Ponchielli. pany, the Newton division classes are studying with Miss Langford and Mr. Edwin Binney for professional careers in ballet and are gaining valuable experience by filling many engagements throughout New England each season. They have performed for school and parent-teacher groups, women's clubs, the Boston Fine Arts Festival, the Gardner Museum and church and charitable organizations. Last Monday they danced for the Waban Women's Club.

There are 2 things okay to buy on instalments

-- a HOME and . . . MONEY

Maybe I'm a bit old-fashioned, but there are not many things I'd buy on the instalment plan.

Two, I know are all right -- a home and . . . money.

You can buy a home by getting a loan from Watertown Federal and paying it back in comfortable monthly instalments.

Or you can buy yourself $1,000 or $2,000 or any sum of money at a "bargain" by making regular payments into a savings account at Watertown Federal. In a few years you'll have a fine pile, and the dividends will make up a fourth or more of the total.

Relics Of First Americans On View At Watertown Bank

Hard to believe that Indians wandered through these parts not so long ago, but every now and then an arrowhead or some other, Indian relic is uncovered by a Sunday farmer to remind us of a native culture that preceded the coming of the white man.

Actually, each of the over 338 different Indian tribes that inhabited America in recent times has had its own individual customs, dress and traditions.

On view at the Watertown Federal Savings and Loan Association, in Watertown square, at the present time is a colorful collection of mementos of past Indian life throughout America. Examples of beadwork, pottery, and various crafts by many old Indian tribes may be seen. A peace pipe, the stem decorated with elaborate beadwork and with a bowl of catlinite a red stone quarried by the Plains Indians, is something not to be missed. Another interesting item is a Sioux war bonnet fashioned in Montana before the last uprising of that tribe in 1876. The Seneca Indians who once lived in upper New York State are represented by masks made from corn husks which were worn by members of the tribe during their "green corn festival," a ceremony in which they offered their thanks to the Great Spirit for the corn crop.

Rattles, shields, drums, masks and many other items of both peaceful and warlike nature representing tribes such as the Cherokee, Pawnee, Hopi and Navaho and others are included in the exhibit. All of the items on view are accompanied by explanatory labels which give a little story about these "first Americans." The display will be on view until May 1.

smoking and lung cancer. It was a similar statistical survey of the cancer problem in Massachusetts, compiled by Dr. Lombard, that led to establishment of the first state cancer control program in the country here in 1926.

Concerning his current work on lung cancer, Dr. Lombard says that while cigarettes seem the prime offender, there are other contributory causes, notably, extremely heavy drinking, outdoor work in city areas among traffic fumes, and chronic respiratory conditions.

But the cigarette appears to be the chief offender.

"Our figures indicate," he said, "that the smoking of one pack of cigarettes or less a day does not appreciably create a lung cancer hazard for the first 25 years of smoking. After 25 years of such smoking, however, the risk of contracting lung cancer is doubled. With heavier smokers, the risk is even greater."

In addition to his post with the Division of Cancer and Chronic Disease, Dr. Lombard is chief of the Bureau of Preventive Disease Control; professor of public health at Tufts Dental School; and an instructor in public health practice at Harvard School of Public Health.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society; a diplomat of the American Board of Preventive Medicine and Public Health, being a member of the founders' group; and has served as consultant to the U. S. Public Health Service and special consultant to the National Cancer Institute.

In 1953 he was awarded the Public Health Cancer Association Award in recognition of his outstanding career in preventive medicine and his "epoch-making contributions in the field of cancer control."

Among his professional affiliations, he is a charter member of both the New England Cancer Society and the Biometrics Society and was the first president of the Public Health Cancer Association.

Dr. Lombard was born 67 years ago in Bridgton, Maine. He was graduated from Bowdoin College and Bowdoin Medical School, then one of the leading medical schools in New England, receiving his M.D. in 1915. He became interested in biometrics while attending Harvard School of Public Health in 1924.

Dr. and Mrs. Lombard's daughter, Olive, is following in her father's footsteps, working at Harvard School of Public Health as a biostatistician.

Blasting Damage Case Ruled Out

The Supreme Judicial Court ruled Monday that a Newton man cannot make the state pay for damage caused to his home by blasting for a Metropolitan District Commission tunnel.

The high court, in deciding against Atty. T. Gregory Sullivan of Chestnut street, cited an old legal principle that a citizen can sue the government only when the government permits it.

The decision, written by Justice Arthur E. Whittemore, upheld a Middlesex Superior Court verdict in favor of the state in 1954. Sullivan had appealed the verdict.

Sullivan said that vibrations from the blasting broke an attic water pipe in 1945 and flooded the entire house. His home was about 500 feet from the tunnel being constructed under Commonwealth avenue.

Series Of Stays Seen For Slayers of Merrill Lovinger

The 60-day stay in the court-order execution of the three house-investors, who slew Attorney Merrill Lovinger at the Newton home of his father-in-law two years ago, was regarded by most observers at the State House this week only as a fore-runner of a series of stays.

Indeed, many questioned whether the three convicted murderers, Arthur L. Devlin and Russell P. LeBlanc, both of Waltham, and Henry P. Arsenault, Jr., of Framingham, would ever pay for their crime in the electric chair.

The 60-day stay, it was pointed out, was almost automatic since it was based on the fact that their counsel are preparing further appeals to the State Supreme Court. It has been a rigid traditional policy, of course, to permit every recourse to the courts in capital cases. Until all avenues of appeal have been exhausted the State has never moved for execution in the past.

However, even though all court appeals have been acted upon one way or another by the highest tribunals, few observers at the State House believe that the State will know another execution in the two years immediately ahead. There's a chance, too, that the electric chair, unused for years, may never be used again.

The present session of the Legislature is considering a number of bills concerned with the electric chair and capital punishment. In the past it has steadfastly rejected—often by heavy margins—proposals that the State rid itself entirely of capital punishment.

One of the bills which is expected to emerge from the present session with a legislative okay is that which would have the voters of the State express their opinion on whether or not the extreme penalty be retained as part of the Commonwealth's penal code.

Hearing on Milk Board Case Unique in State's History

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor

Republican leaders are so certain that Governor Furcolo is committing a major blunder in planning to have nine judges sit on the proposed ouster of a member of the State Milk Board that they are fearful he will change his mind and drop the entire matter.

The opening round in the tradition-shattering battle over the attempted removal of Matthew J. Collins of Lanesborough from the Milk Board is scheduled for late this month, with the Governor presiding over the proceedings and a tribunal of judges in attendance.

This hearing promises to be one of the most unusual in the history of the Commonwealth. In the first place, Governor Furcolo is seeking to fire Collins because of a stand the latter took in a case in which Furcolo was an attorney.

Whatever the merits may have been in the original dispute, Furcolo, having served as counsel for an interested party in the proceedings, can hardly qualify as a neutral and objective observer.

Conference Hailed With Enthusiasm

The meeting which Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., has called for Thursday, April 25, to which invitations to attend have been extended to all mayors and selectmen of Greater Boston, for the purpose of forming an association of member communities, will be "in the nature of an open forum, rather than a conference," the mayor stated yesterday.

TRANSPORTATION VITAL TO ALL

The mayor launched his plan for the formation of a Greater Boston Metropolitan regional planning agency last week and announced that the meeting would be held at the city hall here on Thursday night, April 25. The emphasis of the meeting will be primarily on transportation.

Mayor Urges Support Of Easter Seals

In a statement issued today, Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., designated Saturday, Apr. 13 as Crippled Children's Day in this city and urged all citizens to support this most worthy cause.

In his statement the mayor said "many of our physically disabled can overcome their handicaps and be happy, independent persons if given specialized treatment and training now and I urge everyone in the community to generously support the Easter Seal appeal for crippled children and adults and provide more rehabilitation services to our crippled children and adults."

The purpose of this Sport Night is two-fold. First it will be held as a means of raising much-needed funds to carry on all the worthy projects of the Post; and secondly, it will provide good, wholesome entertainment for the community at large.

During the evening, door prizes will be awarded for one pair of 1957 season tickets to all night games of the Red Sox; three autographed baseballs; three autographed books "Fear Strikes Out" by Jimmy Piersall; three autographed pictures of Jimmy Piersall; and one ten.

Democrats To Build Up Party Here

Newton Democrats are calling in experts to help build their Party, according to an announcement in a newsletter just issued by the Newton Democratic City Committee. The newsletter states, "Certainly the suburbs present a new political problem and Newton Democrats have an opportunity and an obligation to try to define and solve it."

April 9, the Program Committee of the Newton Democratic City Committee will sit in on an exploratory "brainstorming" session to be attended by Joseph Cass, Director CIO-PAC; Representative Alexander Cella of Medford; Prof. John Dawson, Harvard Law School; Prof. Ithiel de Sola Pool, Political Science, M.I.T.; Senator John E. ## Departments Ask Adjusted Pay Schedule

Tonight (Thursday) Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. will meet with the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen for the purpose of discussing proposed salary and wage increases for city employees. The purpose of the meeting will be to prepare a scale of increases for presentation to the full Board of Aldermen at its regular meeting Monday night for their consideration.

There has been no intimation as to what procedure will be adopted to bring about this adjustment of salaries and wages but that one calling for an increase will be made appears a certainty.

Whether the proposal for increased salaries will be on a percentage basis, an across-the-board plan, or based on individual factors, no one has been informed and it would be pure conjecture to speculate on which of the plans will be put forth Monday night.

Would Be Erected On Turnpike

A public hearing held by the Planning Board and the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen Monday night, heard plans outlined for the construction of a super deluxe apartment-hotel here.

This was revealed as a request was made for a change of zone of 175,000 square feet of land on the Worcester turnpike at Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill.

PLAN CALLS FOR 53 APARTMENTS

Roger P. Sonnabend of Newton, vice-president of the Hotel Corporation of America, stated that the organization plans to start a chain of apartment-hotels, similar to the set-up at 1200 Beacon street, Boston, which has the highest occupancy rate of any hotel in the city.

It was stated that the Newton plan calls for 53 apartment units, a coffee shop, cocktail lounge and swimming pool and would be called the "Chestnut Hill Motel."

Norman Burns, attorney for the petitioners, stated that the group seeks to withdraw 70,000 square feet from the original petition leaving 105,000 square feet for which a change of zone is sought from Residence "B" to Business "B." He stated the hotel might have been built under the present zoning but that the change was requested by the bank which is financing the venture.

ESTIMATE COST OF $2,000,000

The owners of the land expect to construct a $2,000,000 hotel.

Two large plate glass windows were smashed at the Howard Johnson Restaurant, located on Route 128 near Route 16, last Saturday afternoon in a freak accident involving an automobile.

According to police, a sedan, operated by Miss Herta Boynton of 104 Union street, Leominster, and owned by George W. Cutter of 224 West street, also of Leominster, jumped the curb on the north side of the building, went over a sidewalk and then crashed in the two plate glass windows.

Rare Glass Collection To Be Shown at Jackson Homestead

Spring will be welcomed officially at the Jackson Homestead Open House this Sunday afternoon, Apr. 14, from 3 to 5 o'clock, at 527 Washington St., Newton.

At that time the unusually fine Glass Collection of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Limeric, of Medford, will have its first showing. Mr. Limeric is Vice-President of the National Early American Glass Club. The collection has been arranged so as to emphasize the part that New England glass factories played in the early days of the industry in America.

There will be specimens of paperweights, cup plates, salts, candlesticks, lace, pattern, amberina, satin, and many other types so dear to the heart of the collector. There will be both blown and pressed glass, including the work of factories located outside of New England.

land. And there will be choice specimens of foreign glass. Each room of the house will feature some of these lovely things. The exhibit will be on view until June.

Since Spring also means Easter bonnets and fine clothes, two co-chairmen of the Costume Committee, alias Mrs. Paul A. Chandler and Mrs. Harold A. Carnes, have been busier than bees arranging the most nostalgic array of hoop skirt dresses, bustles, shawls, and bonnets seen in Newton since the Civil War. Figures dressed in pink satin, plaid taffeta, green satin, white lawn and kitchen cotton are waiting to greet visitors in the various rooms. Other hostesses will include two Girl Scouts dressed in lovely old costumes.

School Personnel Shown Waiting Turn For Chest X-rays

1,316 X-rays Taken In School Survey

A total of 1,316 chest X-rays were taken in the chest X-ray survey for school personnel. Twenty-three local women volunteered sufficient hours to cover the entire three-day program.

In accordance with the General Laws which require all school employees to have chest X-ray every three years, the school department, the health department and the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association cooperated to bring a mobile unit into the city for the purpose of X-raying all elementary and secondary school personnel, both public and private.

In addition to the public schools, the following private schools availed themselves of this opportunity:

ter of salary increases and it is believed that the groundwork for such increases was pretty well established and that tonight's meeting will be for the purpose of completing the entire matter. This will, of necessity, have to take place tonight as copies of the proposal must be prepared for presentation to the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ALREADY ON RECORD

The police department is already on record as to what its members desire in the form of pay increase and other benefits.

Two weeks ago a four-point request was submitted to the aldermen from a committee representing the police department. At that time this group requested an $800 yearly pay raise in order to bring a patrolman's salary up to $5,000.

In addition they ask for more paid holidays or a rotating work schedule of four days on and two days off. They also seek liberalized vacation schedules and an increased uniform allowance.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS ALSO PRESENT FACTS

In addition to the police request, other departments are also understood to have presented a desire to participate in any wage adjustment schedule.

Here, as elsewhere, city and town employees have based their requests on increased pay to the upward trend in the cost of living as well as offering a comparison of wages paid in other communities, many of them not at all comparable to this city. Even smaller communities have been upping the scale of wages paid municipal employees and this factor is being stressed by city employees here, all of which undoubtedly merit the utmost consideration.

At the meeting this Monday night it is expected that the Aldermen will take definite action on the salary and wage proposals. On what basis increases will be granted, however, must await the action of the Aldermen Monday night.

Slayer-

No Massachusetts Governor has ever relished the idea that when all else had failed, he found himself obliged to make the decision as to whether or not a convicted slayer should die for taking another's life. Since the administration of Paul A. Dever no one has been executed.

In his inaugural address this year Governor Furolo himself expressed the idea that the people themselves should vote on the matter of capital punishment.

Thus, it is very likely that in the State Election in 1958 the electorate will be called through a referendum on the ballot to decide whether or not the electric chair should be abolished.

What the sentiment of the public will be in the fall of 1958 can only be guessed. Those opposed to capital punishment have been articulate and busy in recent years. They have been well-led. They have opposed capital punishment not only in Massachusetts, but in the other States which still exact the supreme penalty.

At a recent hearing, perhaps, the most powerful voice raised against abolition was that of the mother of Merrill Lovinger. She spoke quietly when she appeared before the committee. She spoke from the heart. Her words were hardly audible in the back row of the hearing room, yet they had the effect of the most powerful orator.

Even though the Legislature decides to put it up to the voters through the medium of a referendum, however, the final decision on retention or rejection of the electric chair in Massachusetts will be up to a vote of the Legislature.

It is very likely the Legislature will be guided by the outcome of a referendum, if it is held, but as the timetable now reads, it would not act until 1959 at the very earliest.

It is very likely, too, that no attempt will be made to carry out a death sentence on anyone in Massachusetts until that decision is reached.

The petition made to Governor Furolo seeking the 60-day stay for the Lovinger slayers was accompanied by a letter from the counsel for the alleged slayers. The lawyers are Attorneys Francis Juggins, Leonard J. Mullin and Wendell F. Grimes.

portation problems although other matters are likely to be taken up.

Mayor Whitmore will open the meeting and will sit as temporary chairman, pending an election to establish a permanent organization with duly elected officers, if the meeting so votes.

WIDESPREAD APPROVAL

The response thus far to the mayor's invitation to attend the meeting has met with widespread approval and it is believed that probably as many as forty Greater Boston communities will be represented.

"This meeting," Mayor John Hynes of Boston said, "could really be the beginning of a Greater Boston plan of government."

Mayor Whitmore's plan to together has been hailed as bringing these municipal officials "the first concrete step" toward full co-operation of political and business leaders.

MEETING TO BE EXPLORATORY

Already many of the community leaders have expressed themselves as favoring an idea of regional planning. "This meeting," said Mayor Whitmore, "is only an exploratory one." But officials of other communities have been already quoted as being enthusiastic about the whole matter and while some will approach the meeting with caution and restraint, by and large, the majority of these officials who have been invited can see much good in the plan and feel certain that the outcome of the meeting will be one of great progress.

NEWTON CORNER — Tonight Rev. Arthur H. Block, minister of the Lutheran Church of the Newtons, will be the speaker at the final community Lenten service held jointly by the Methodist and Eliot Churches at the Methodist Church. Following the service a social hour will follow in Fellowship Hall.

WBZ-TV To Inaugurate Use Of History-Making Tower Sunday

Newton residents will witness the sharpest, clearest television reception possible, since it will operate on the maximum power permitted by the Federal Communications Commission.

Considered a masterpiece of modern engineering, the tower was built by Ideco-Dresser Co. of Ohio at considerable cost to Westinghouse Broadcasting Company and to WBZ-TV during a long construction feat that began in October 1956.

It has been learned that its facilities will be available to all VHF stations in the Boston area, including Boston's new Channel 5, soon to open operations.

Let's All Support It

One of the sure signs of Spring will start to appear on the playgrounds all over Newton during the next few weeks when Little League baseball activities get under way. Our hats are off to the large group of public-spirited residents who devote so much of their time, efforts and energy to making this program possible.

Little League supplies a healthy outlet for the energies of the young boys who participate in it and they receive athletic instruction which contributes to their moral and physical growth at a time when it is so needed.

Unfortunately all boys who want to play Little League baseball are not able to do so. For the most part this is a financial problem. Last year the East Little League, for instance, took in an additional 108 boys bringing their total to 276, but this still meant that over 150 boys were turned down. In an effort to make their program available to all boys who want to play Little League baseball, the officers of the East Little League have written all residents of their area, Chestnut Hill, Thompsonville, Newton Centre and Oak Hill, asking their financial support.

We hope that all members of our community will lend their support to Little League activities not only in the East Division, but in all areas of the city. Let's make 1957 a banner year for our young devotees of the "national pastime."

So that all who wish to play may do so, our citizens should match the untiring work of those who lead the Leagues, with their financial support.

You Can Do Something

The Red Cross lives and breathes in an emergency atmosphere for the benefit of all of us.

When the telephone rings at its blood center in Boston or at headquarters of Newton Chapter, a story of trouble, anxiety and desperation spills out and the Red Cross listens sympathetically and acts with compassion.

Another emergency will be met through the Red Cross and a bottle of blood.

Newspapers and radio and TV stations spell out the emergencies with which the Red Cross is vitally concerned—hurricanes, earthquakes, floods, fires, catastrophes, large and small.

"On the job when it counts," is the slogan of the Red Cross, a slogan with meaning for each of us.

But, look into the future to the day when the Red Cross could not answer the call for blood with reassurance; when the Red Cross could not fully fling its entire resources in a months-long disaster operation; when the Red Cross would be handicapped in performing the many and minute functions for the benefit of the families of men and women in the armed forces.

This would be a black and fatal day, indeed.

It would be another day of infamy, but, happily, a day that need not happen. You can switch the black to light. It is within your ability and within your own heart.

The Red Cross, you see, itself is facing an emergency. Its minimum cash needs for the next 12 months have not yet been realized. But you can do something about this by mailing your gift today.

Political Overtones

But it is the injection of a squad of judges into a matter which is strictly of an administrative nature that is attracting the rapt attention of Republican politicians.

Back through the sweep of the years in Massachusetts there has been a scrupulous respect and observance of the separation of powers between the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government prescribed in the Constitution.

Whether Furcolo is violating that principle is a matter of hairline opinion, but if he isn't actually stepping across the line, neither is he stopping very far short of it.

Furcolo has declared in effect that he will make the actual decision on the removal of Collins, but that he will follow the recommendation of the judges. If he doesn't heed the findings of the judges, there is obviously little point to having them sit on the case. For all practical purposes that means the judges rather than Furcolo will decide whether or not Collins is to be fired.

There is widespread speculation in political circles as to the identity of the jurists who have consented to sit in judgment on Milk Commissioner Collins.

Mass. Transportation Problem Big Headache for Legislature

Buses and trains . . . fare hikes and deficits. In one form or another mass transportation questions continue to haunt the present session of the Legislature. Hardly a day passes without the issue rising to the surface.

Take the day, for example, when it appeared simultaneously before the legislative committees on taxation and welfare, two most unlikely places.

The taxation committee was considering the report of a special recess commission which had been studying the problems of local transit companies. Before the welfare committee was a bill which would translate into law one of the proposals offered by Governor Furcolo in his inaugural address.

Painted before the taxation committee was a drab picture of a large number of the State's bus lines. Many of them need financial help and need it quickly if they are to survive, according to the testimony. James H. Sullivan, representing the Hudson Bus Lines, frankly admitted that fares had gone about as high as they can go. Unless some help is forthcoming he could see nothing but disaster ahead.

Tax rebates on motor fuels and abatements on excise taxes for those carriers encountering particularly tough going were two of the suggestions advanced by witnesses who appeared before the taxation committee.

Over in the room where the welfare committee was sitting the subject also was transportation. That discussion was much different. It produced a big surprise, too. This committee was considering a proposal by Governor Furcolo that persons on old age assistance should be carried free on transit lines, buses, etc.

Despite the fact that the Governor himself considered it important enough to include in his inaugural, the only one to appear in favor of the measure was James L. Valley of West Roxbury, Furcolo's executive assistant. Everyone else who testified was against the bill, even State Public Welfare Commissioner Patrick A. Tompkins and Mrs. Annie C. Garde of Somerville, representing the Senior Citizens and Associates of Massachusetts.

Opponents came before the committee in force, among them Willis B. Downey, counsel for the MTA, who stepped the attention of the committee members up sharply by pointing out that the proposal would add more than $1,000,000 a year to the already astronomical MTA deficit of $8,000,000 which the taxpayers in 14 Metropolitan Boston communities must meet.

If there was anyone other than Valley in the room willing to say a word or two in favor of the gubernatorial suggestion after that, he or she remained silent. Even those who would have been allowed to ride free of charge were recorded against the idea.

Senator Charles W. Olson, Ashland Republican, is a good man to have on the floor when the debate gets flighty and speakers become so enthralled with their own words that they get away from the point at issue.

The other day, when the Senate was debating revival of a bill which would double the minimum compulsory automobile coverage, the salty Olson got the speeches back on track just as the Solons were doing some oratorical wanderings.

"It is my experience and observation that it would be better to limit the amount the lawyers can soak the injured persons," was the comment of the Ashland Senator who is chairman of the committee on highways and motor vehicles.

Since a good percentage of the Senators are lawyers, the barbed shaft had immediate effect.

Labor Withdraws Support of Annual Jefferson Dinner

None of those concerned with the present and future well-being of the Democratic party in Massachusetts felt any urge to toss their hats in the air over the contents of one letter which came in a recent batch of mail to former Governor Paul A. Dever.

He received the letter in his capacity as chairman of the annual Jefferson-Jackson dinner, the annual fund-raising banquet staged by the Democrats.

It contained no check. In fact, all it contained was bad news for Democratic adherents, no matter how it was viewed. Signed by Kenneth J. Kelley, secretary-treasurer and legislative agent for the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, the missive informed Chairman Dever, politely but none the less brusquely, that the Federation wasn't extending its usual generous support to the Jefferson-Jackson shindig this year.

Reason: The Federation has been obliged to spend $10,000 of its funds for literature opposing Governor Furcolo's "so-called 'limited' 3 percent sales tax."

The sinews of the two major parties are still fashioned and developed by dollars. The highest sounding slogans, the most persuasive, vote-producing words must be given wings whether they come from a headquarters on a city, state or national level. Dollars are needed to permit the words and slogans to reach the ears for which they are intended.

Thus, the loss of the hitherto generous support of the Federation was certain to cast something more lugubrious than a mere 5 o'clock shadow on the up-coming Jefferson-Jackson soiree.

It didn't help either that dollars which in the past were earmarked for a joyous party gathering, plus some healthy replenishment of the party's not-so-well stocked financial larder were going for quite another purpose. Ironically, they were being channeled into the Federation's avowed battle to defeat the very top legislative program of the party's titular State leader.

Kelley Hits 'Limited' Sales Tax

Legislative Agent Kelley appears to have lost none of his admitted strength in the give-and-take which annually goes with the attempt of labor to have a voice in the Legislature's annual output of laws. Certainly, there is no indication whatsoever that his uncompromising stand against any sales tax has reduced his stature among the lawmakers themselves.

His letter emphasized the words—"so-called 'limited' 3 percent sales tax."

That phrase alone may well prove to sum up the arguments which those labor leaders opposed to the tax will be using in the final showdown.

The Governor himself has put considerable emphasis on the word "limited." When he introduced the sales tax as his answer to the State's need for more revenue in a special message on Jan. 23, he indicated that food, medicine, children's clothing, rents, electricity, gas, home fuel and "other vital services" would not be made subject to the sales tax.

There's no indication what other limitations will be spelled out but even with the elimination of those considerations, the other daily needs of Massachusetts' citizens are pretty much limited.

Kelley has undoubtedly made considerable progress in attempting to focus public attention on the word "limited." Until such time as the Governor's sales tax is announced in final form, the public will be disposed to withhold judgment on what that word "limited" really means in connection with the sales tax.

Meanwhile, such opponents as Mr. Kelley will make the most of their own interpretation of that seven-lettered adjective.

Return to Basic English

After a quiet debut in his post-election job with the Veterans' Administration in Washington, former Lieutenant-Governor Sumner G. Whittier is attracting attention with one little item which has been a steadily growing irritant since earliest New Deal days.

That concerns the torture to which the English language can be subjected under the official aegis of some governmental departments and bureaus.

One of the first things Whittier discovered when he took over his new job was that he couldn't understand many of the letters which the VA was sending out to veterans concerning this subject or that.

They were couched in high-sounding phrases, gobbledegook and Philadelphia-lawyer talk which could have strained the understanding of almost any average person.

Whittier's now reported engaged in the task of getting such letters back into basic, understandable English.

If he succeeds, there'll be those who will advocate that he or someone like him be established in a career to go around to a lot more bureaus and departments.

Other Communications

His Honor the Mayor recommending the request of the Recreation Commission that the Board of Aldermen take necessary action authorizing the Newton North Little League to construct dugouts at the Albemarle Playground in Newton.

As a prime example there's the Internal Revenue Department. Each year that department pats itself on the back on what it considers simplification of its forms and instructions. They've still a long way to go as almost anyone who wrestles with an income tax return these days will be quick to point out.

No one knows exactly when that strange mangling of English language started. Nor can the exact date be fixed when the government began its spree of making the most simple sentence something beyond comprehension.

Regardless of the history of gobbledegook, the sooner Federal bureaus get back to simple English the better. That goes for the State level, too.

East Little League Tryouts To Be Held This Saturday

Because of rain last Saturday William Doherty, chairman, has announced that the tryouts for filling the vacancies on the 10 East Little League teams will be held at the Weeks Junior High School playground this Saturday.

Boys who hope to play in the East League must be residents of Newton Centre, Oak Hill, Thompsonville, or Chestnut Hill, south of Commonwealth Avenue. Prospective players must be at least 9 years old before August 1, 1957, and they must not reach their 13th birthday before August 1, 1957.

Boys of 9 and 10 league age (including 1956 International and Pacific League players seeking a major league position) will report at 9 a.m.

Boys of 11 and 12 league age (including 1956 International and Pacific League players seeking a major league position) will report at 2 p.m.

If postponement is necessary because of the weather, tryouts will be held at the same hours on April 13th.

Application forms have been distributed to all the schools in this area, and they are also available at the Kiddie Centre, Langley road, in Newton Centre. The Tryout Committee includes: William Doherty, chairman, Lou Pagano, Mrs. Walter P. Muther, and Martin Boermeester. They will be assisted with the records at the field by Mrs. Abbott Spear, Mrs. John Milekic, Mrs. Walter Dietz, Jr., Mrs. Thomas S. Woodroof, Mrs. Walter Kreske, and Mrs. Alvin Sutherland. Fathers of boys trying out are invited to assist in handling the boys on the field.

This year an appeals is being made to Newton residents for funds to help defray the cost of the ball playing season. These expenses include the cost of equipment such as baseballs, bats, uniform replacements and repairs and the services of professional umpires. The expenses during one playing season have been found to be approximately $15.00 per participating player. Residents of this area are urged to give generously to this worthwhile cause. According to Philip Lowe, Finance Chairman, the number of boys participating in Newton East Little League this season will depend upon the success of the financial drive.

The League President, Christian Herter, Jr., recently approved the appointment of the following team managers as presented by Charles Delaney, chairman of the Managerial Committee. For the Major League:

Newton Centre Senators, Anthony Ascolese; Thompsonville Athletics, Alvin Sutherland; Chestnut Hill Phillies, Albert Wichson and William Doherty; Oak Hill Cubs to be announced.

For the Minor League: Buffalo Bisons, Ernest Siciliano; Syracuse Chiefs, Stuart Palmer; Toronto Maple Leafs, Abbott Spear; Rochester Red Wings, Thomas S. Woodroof; Havana Sugar Kings, Charles Delaney; Montreal Royals, Harold Brown; Vancouver Cougars, Walter Dietz, Jr.; San Francisco Seals, Samuel Cooper; Seattle Rainiers, Aaron Cohen; Portland Beavers, John Milekic; Los Angeles Angels, Francis Brayden; Hollywood Stars, Daniel Pizozglio.

The car jumped forward and crashed into the windows.

Miss Boynton received a few scratches on her ankle, according to the police, but did not claim injury and did not want to be taken to the hospital.

The entire front of the car was damaged by the impact of the crash.

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

NBC's vice president Tom Sarnoff has snared the TV services of the writing-directing-producing team of Norman Panama and Melvin Frank. Beginning next fall, they'll be responsible for two spectaculars each year. The pair are well-known for their Bob Hope pictures.

William Gargan goes back to his original television role of Martin Kane in a new series to be produced in Europe by Ziv Productions. He'll play an American private eye with headquarters in London—claiming the continent for his moneyed clients.

Producer Bernard L. Schubert reports that, while filming his TV "White Hunter" exterior, he used the same African natives that M-G-M used for "King Solomon's Mines" a few years ago... yet they cost him two shillings more per native. Inflation seems to have reached Africa.

Walter Brennan and Kathy Nolan's "The Real McCoy's" is set for the ABC network in the fall. It's set in California's San Fernando Valley.

We make it a point to keep up with the latest developments in TV... which means we're always prepared to give you expert service, regardless of make or model. And, if you want to keep up with the best of the latest, better come in and see our complete line of SYLVANIA products. Make it soon!

April Vacation Is Story Time At Newton Library

"Once upon a time, a long time ago, there dwelt a terrible monster with snaky hair..."

With these age-old magic words, Newton children will be transported into the land of myth and fantasy by Storyteller Mrs. Virginia A. Tashjian when the April vacation story hours are held.

All children six years of age and older are invited to listen and to enjoy the magic art of storytelling in attractively decorated children's rooms showing displays of new spring books and posters. Poetry and song lovers, too, will find something to their special tastes.

On Wednesday morning, April 17, at 10:30, Mrs. Tashjian will be at the West Newton Branch Children's Room, and on Thursday morning, April 18, at 10:30, she will welcome all story lovers at the Boys' & Girls' Library at Newton Corner.

Men's Clothing Still Needed By Hungarians

With spring house cleaning either underway or soon to be done, keep an eye out for unwanted men's clothes in good condition.

The Newton Red Cross desperately need men's suits, trousers, and coats for Hungarian refugees being processed at Camp Kilmer in New Jersey.

The need was pointed out when four Red Cross volunteers recently drove the Red Cross Disaster Truck and station wagon filled with clothes to Kilmer. If they hadn't arrived Saturday, there wouldn't have been any clothes for Tuesday's processing.

This is proof that the need is still urgent. So take stock and see if you have any men's clothing available. Then deliver them to Newton's Red Cross Chapter House, 21 Foster street, Newtonville.

Rats Help Class Discover Truths About Nutrition

Students of the sixth grade at the Underwood School reported at a recent assembly on the results of a six-week nutrition experiment the class conducted on a pair of white rats.

"Skimper" was fed for three weeks a diet of meat, potato, bread and water, while "Skamper" received in addition vegetables, fruit, cheese, butter, cereal and milk. The class discovered "Skimper's" weight went down and his appearance and disposition were affected. They told their audience that an improved diet brought an almost immediate improvement in these characteristics.

The care of the rats presented opportunities for cooperation and teamwork within the class, and the preparation of posters and charts on the matter introduced the "scientific method."

During the course of the experiment the rats were exhibited at a dairymen's conference in Boston by two members of the class, Margaret Fulton and Edward Tomagno, and their teacher, Mrs. Anne Carr.

The Choice That is Never Challenged!

Drive a Cadillac over any period of time you wish — and the odds are that no one will ever question your choice of a motor car.

For almost everyone understands the instincts that lead a man to Cadillac. Rare is the motorist, in fact, who does not have his own heart set on the "car of cars".

Certainly, this is as it should be. For Cadillac's virtues are simply too numerous to be overlooked — and too apparent to be misunderstood.

Who, for instance, could behold a new Cadillac and not proclaim it the most beautiful and majestic of automobiles?

Who could ride in a new Cadillac and not recognize its extraordinary luxury and comfort?

Who could drive a new Cadillac and not pronounce it the crowning achievement of automotive engineering?

And who — knowing of Cadillac's many economies of ownership could fail to recognize it as the finest investment in all motordom?

Indeed, the reasons for choosing Cadillac are as valid as they are numerous — and we urge you to visit your dealer at your first opportunity and discover all of them for yourself.

Why not spend an hour at the wheel — and select your favorite Cadillac model as your own?

You can rest assured — the whole world will approve your choice!

Anthony Davis
PRESENTS HIS EXCLUSIVE
BODY WAVE $10.00

The Body Wave is a form of permanent waving used on hair that either has a little natural wave or hair that waves easily.

It does not add appreciably to the amount of wave already in the hair, but gives such strength and resiliency to the wave as to make the hair seem naturally wavy and remarkably easy to put up.

It is for hair to which the ordinary permanent wave (however soft) gives too much curl.

It is not generally advisable for straight hair.

Newton Red Cross Ending Successful Drive

"With only a few sections of the city still to be heard from, it appears the people of Newton have once again come to the support of its local Red Cross Chapter," commented Philip K. Brown, Chapter Chairman. During the month of March more and more people had answered the call to join and serve, enabling Red Cross to continue its effective work in Newton and when called upon, any place in the country or the world.

"A great deal of credit, of course, rightfully belongs to the loyal solicitors who not only have done an effective job in informing people about the work of the Red Cross, but also have made the aims of Red Cross seem so vital that every donation, no matter how small, will help to carry on the never ending task of coming to the aid of others who need help," continued Mr. Brown.

The ten service program of Red Cross—Disaster Relief,

Bloodmobile, Service to the Armed Forces, Nursing, First Aid, Water Safety, Junior Red Cross, Community Services, Service to Veterans and International Services, — produce thousands of instances where we can be of help.

1957 Fund Chairman, Alan Shaw, advises many of his division chairmen are endeavoring to make their final reports, and because of the size and scope of the undertaking, it is requested that those who were not home when the solicitor called, that they mail their contribution to the Newton Red Cross, 21 Foster street, Newtonville, Mass.

Sales Tax Would Cut City's Tax Rate About $4

Gov. Foster Furcolo's proposed limited sales tax would result in a $4 reduction in Newton's tax rate, according to his formula for distribution of nearly $75,000,000 in expected revenue to 351 cities and towns.

Collector Archie R. Whitman estimated that the city's share in the distribution would result in this saving on the tax rate which last year was $48.20.

Former Boston Post Political Editor

Sen. Powers Will Get Credit If Sales Tax Bill Is Killed

State Senator John E. Powers will be the top man in the Democratic party in Massachusetts if Governor Furcolo's sales tax bill is defeated in the Legislature, as it now appears it will be.

Not only has Powers spearheaded the fight against the sales tax, but it was he who rallied the opposition to it when other legislators were stunned by Furcolo's unexpected announcement three months ago and were wavering and uncertain as to just what to do.

If Powers had yielded to Furcolo's persuasion and had gone over to the Governor's side, the objection to the sales tax might have crumbled under the impact of Governor Furcolo's surprising stand.

But when Powers stood his ground and fought back against the sales tax, other legislators and labor leaders gradually fell into line behind him, and the battle lines were drawn.

Claim City Could Have Done Better

Many a city employee felt just a little bit unhappy Tuesday morning. Their hopes had been somewhat dimmed after the aldermanic action Monday night in the matter of pay increases.

At least that appeared to be the atmosphere, particularly among all types of city workers. On the corners, in the restaurants and other places of public gathering, one could sense that something was amiss.

"Niggardly, pathetic" were just a few of the more polite remarks overheard. You could sense disappointment among the hundreds of workers in City Hall.

Said one individual: "the Garden City, where there is plenty of wealth, must certainly be in an economical mood this year."

From another city employee: "the whole thing doesn't set well. School custodians get more money from the city a year than we do and they have it comparatively easy."

From still another source: "it's about time we had a good two party system in this city. The faction which has controlled it for these many years, are still living twenty years in the

Church Services Liked by Students

A series of Church Services at 7:45 a.m. held on Wednesday during Lent, conducted in Newtonville churches prior to High School sessions by the United Church Youth have proven very popular with the high school set it was asserted today by Rev Thomas Reed, pastor of the Church of the Open Word and Youth Director of the group, and James Mitchell, Union Church in Waban, president. Rev Reed stated, "That the instruction of this Lenten Series before school services has met a definite need of the young people is attested by the fact that an average of over 100 have attended each Wednesday morning service."

When asked to comment upon United Church Youth services conducted by the youth group at St. John's Church, Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, pastor, said "It has been most gratifying to me to see our young people tak-

Weeks Says Russia Tops In Science

Russia graduated more than twice as many scientists and engineers in 1955 as did the United States, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks told a gathering here last Friday night.

Weeks addressed the 25th anniversary celebration of the Weeks Junior High School, which was named for his father, former Sen. John W. Weeks. Over five hundred attended the event.

The United States produced 59,000 graduate scientists and engineers in 1955, compared with Russia's 126,000, Weeks said. He also pointed out that while in this country two out of three "Ph.D.'s" are concentrating in the liberal arts, in Russia three out of four are studying science.

Others taking part in the observance included Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., State Reps. Irene K. Thresher and George F. Rawson; Principal Donald K. Davidson and Leonard Kaplan, president of Weeks PTA.

past. It's about time the citizens here threw them out of office."

Said a former city employee: "Newton has really done itself proud, hasn't it. When little communities, much less wealthier than this city, can pay its policemen and its many other employees more than is paid here, don't you think it is a shame?"

I didn't answer that one. I was merely trying to get the feeling of the matter.

As one individual expressed it: "if they couldn't come up with anything better than they did, it hardly makes sense. Everyone knows the cost of living has sky-rocketed and is still on the increase."

Among the talk heard was the possibility that a petition may be in circulation shortly asking for a review of the entire salary increase schedule which was announced Monday night.

But bitterness was not the whole theme of the conversation. In fact it was more disappointment. As one city worker said: "we don't object to key officials of the city getting a good boost in pay but why don't they give the little fellow a better break?"

1000 Ready To Ring Bells For Mental Health

Over 1000 "Bell Ringers" have signed up thus far in the drive for volunteers for the Mental Health "Bell Ringers' March" on Sunday, May 5, according to Stanley Lewenberg, chairman of the Newton campaign.

"For this period before the drive, 1000 is a good number of volunteers but to insure the success of the Mental Health Campaign in Newton we must have a total of 1200 volunteers," Lewenberg said.

He urged all citizens of Newton interested in aiding the campaign to call him at CA 7-0540 and to volunteer to solicit.

"No one volunteer will have to solicit more than 20 families," Lewenberg said.

Newton Youths Involved In Two Gang Fights

Newton youths participated, according to the police, in two gang fights last week along with youths from Natick and Wellesley.

But Natick and Wellesley police, aided by state troopers, broke up the fights which occurred at Route 9 and Oak st., in Natick.

About fifty youths from the three communities were involved but they fled when police arrived.

A Newton boy was slugged with a garrison belt during the scuffle and a Wellesley youth needed treatment at the Leonard Morse Hospital in Natick after being hit in the eye.

After many months of waiting and expectancy, the passerby on Centre Street has at last seen what he has been looking for, the new building of Eliot Church begin to take shape.

The school wing at the rear was the first section to be worked on, and soon the brick walls were laid and this week it will have been roofed over. Almost overnight, it seemed, the steel work for the frame of the sanctuary was erected, giving the outline from which one could envision its final form and size.

Work on the chapel, on the Church Street side, has progressed rapidly, and soon it, too, will be roofed over. The central chimney already stands high above the rest of the structure and reveals two fireplaces, one for the minister's study, another for the church lounge.

The brick work of the walls of the sanctuary has risen to the level of the window frames and at the two front corners it shows the special pattern in which it is being laid. The concrete for the portico and steps has been poured and work on the base of the tower will soon begin. Enough of the structure has taken form and substance so that the fine design and proportions of the building are becoming clear, and the beholder will realize that a beautiful church will stand at the corner of Centre and Church Streets.

Start Diabetes Classes April 30

The person with diabetes who knows the most about his condition, has the best chance of living a full normal life. This is the guiding principle for the Newton-Wellesley Diabetic Education Program. This program offers the person with diabetes, or those responsible for his care, an opportunity to meet with others who have similar interests. Together they can work out their problems and dispel their anxieties under the guidance of a public health nurse and nutritionist.

All aspects of taking care of diabetes will be considered by well-qualified instructors. The dietary problems will be discussed by Mrs. Ellen Sheehan, nutrition director of the Wellesley Board of Health and Wellesley Red Cross. Miss Charlotte M. ## Newton Sportscaster Home After Announcing Stanley Cup Race

Relaxing at his Newton home after providing N. E. hockey fans with play-by-play accounts of all 70 games in the Boston Bruins' best season for many years is Fred Cusick of Lower Falls.

Cusick arrived home yesterday after broadcasting Tuesday night's defeat of the Boston team by the Canadiens in Montreal. He makes his home here at 68 Pierrepont road, with his wife and three young-sons.

A Newtonite since 1953, Fred sports casts for 15 minutes nightly over WEEI in addition to his hockey duties. This past winter he appeared on several coast-to-coast TV "game of the week" shows and during the baseball season he is responsible for the public address system at Fenway Park for the Sox home games.

His career as a sports announcer had its roots during high school when Fred joined the debating team at St. Columbkille's H. S. in Brighton. He was an outstanding baseball, football and hockey player at Northeastern University in the early 40's, and in his spare time studied public speaking and got a part-time job at WCOB.

From 1942 to 1946, Cusick served as a naval officer on sub-hasers, and for a brief period before his discharge was radio officer at Causeway street.

His first radio job was at Yarmouth with Station WOCB, familiar to vacationers as the voice of "Cape Cod and the Islands." It was there that he met Barbara Mullin of Brookline, whom he later married.

During the next six years, Fred worked at WBET in Brockton and WVOM in Brookline, calling time and doing general announcing, record shows, and women's programs. In 1951, he was recalled into the Navy and spent 18 months at the Pentagon as a lieutenant commander in the radio defense department.

In 1952, he succeeded Frank Ryan, who had announced the Bruins games for the preceding 25 years. Although he occasionally "fluffs," Fred feels hockey is one of the least difficult games to announce because it is fast and there's always something to report.

For relaxation after the long, exciting season the Cusick family, including son Teddy, 7, and daughters, Martha, 9 and Sarah, 2, are looking forward to golfing and swimming at Woodland Country Club.

Political Overtones

If the death knell of the Governor's sales tax proposal already has been sounded, as so many State House observers believe, the fatal blow was struck by Powers at the very outset of the controversy. He was the one who thrust his hand in the dike. He was the one who stopped the sales tax tide before Furcolo could get it rolling.

When the sales tax bill finally is killed—if, of course, it is—Powers will be the man principally responsible for blocking it, the man who stood firm and defied the leader of his own party on the most important issue which will come before this session of the Legislature.

What will be the political effects and consequences for Powers and Furcolo if that happens? That, of course, is a question only time can answer.

Powers necessarily will receive the credit—or blame—for preventing the enactment of the sales tax in Massachusetts.

He will draw the praise and the commendation of those who are against the sales tax, the criticism and ire of those who feel that the sales tax might offer the financial salvation for their community and their State.

For Furcolo the rejection of his sales tax measure will mean defeat on an issue on which he has staked his prestige and possibly his political future.

A good many political observers believe that a logical aftermath to a defeat for the sales tax bill would be for Senator Powers to oppose Governor Furcolo for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the primary a year from next September.

While that suggestion provides a topic for lively conversation whenever politicians get together, a Furcolo-Powers battle for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1958 is not likely to materialize.

Powers' immediate political objective is the Mayor's office at Boston City Hall, not the executive suite in the State House. If he has hopes of one day becoming Governor as well as Mayor, those hopes are projected into the distant and rather remote future. Powers right now is looking directly toward Boston's 1959 mayoralty election. That's where he has been looking. That's where he will continue looking for the next two and a half years.

Just as Furcolo's espousal of the sales tax undoubtedly will be an issue in the 1958 gubernatorial election, so will Powers' opposition to the proposal also be the basis for hot debate in the 1959 mayoralty campaign.

Echoes from the sales tax fight now being waged at the State House will resound in political campaigns and contests for a long time to come. This is a conflict which will not be quickly forgotten, regardless of who wins and loses when the matter comes to a vote later this year in the Legislature.

Senator Powers in an address in Acushnet a few nights ago declared that the State's financial condition is "perfectly sound" and that neither a sales tax nor any other additional tax is needed.

That appraisal would appear to be in direct conflict with the long inaugural speech Governor Furcolo delivered a little over three months ago about the so-called "financial mess" he allegedly inherited.

Powers' remarks would indicate that he doesn't consider there is any "mess" at all. His assertion that $33,000,000 can be pruned from Furcolo's budget and that he will still have a $6,000,000 surplus left also caused a lifting of eyebrows.

Labor Leader Kelley Attacks Furcolo At Public Hearing

A striking example of the bitterness being engendered by the sales tax conflict was provided during a hearing on an entirely different matter at the State House the other day.

Kenneth J. Kelley, legislative agent for the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, who has been stumping across the Commonwealth in opposition to the sales tax, was testifying before the legislative committee on labor and industries on a bill calling for a broad-based study of the workmen's compensation law.

Jarvis Hunt, legislative counsel for the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, had presented a rather convincing argument in favor of such a study, pointing out that the present workmen's compensation act was placed on the books 45 years ago, that it has been amended 400 times since then but has never really been brought up to date.

Hunt brought out that while industrial accidents have dropped as a result of effective safety programs, the costs of workmen's compensation have gone up until they are higher in Massachusetts than in any other State in the union and are a deterrent to attempts to bring new industry here.

Since practically nobody appears satisfied with the way the workmen's compensation law is now operating, the study proposal seemed a good idea. But Kelley arose to record himself against it.

He referred to the bill sponsored by the Associated Industries of Massachusetts as a "stalling device."

When Representative William W. Jenness, Quincy Republican, asked him if he also regarded a somewhat similar proposal by Governor Furcolo as a "stalling device," Kelley answered: "Frankly, I don't think the Governor knows enough about workmen's compensation to make any recommendations to this committee or to the Legislature. He, too, is stalling for time."

Jenness had another question for Kelley. "Do you think," Jenness asked, "that he (Governor Furcolo) has sufficient knowledge on any subject?"

"Come to Fitchburg tonight or New Bedford tomorrow night, and I will give you the answer," replied Kelley.

"YOU'VE GOT TO REDUCE!"

Former custodian at the Franklin School in West Newton, James H. Sawyer, 65, died on Friday at his Framingham home. He lived at 291 Derby street, West Newton, most of his life.

Born in Boston, he was a World War I veteran and member of Newton Post 48 of the American Legion. He retired from the Newton School Department in 1950. He is survived by his wife, the former Ruth E. Lannon.

The eyebrows of listening legislators, who had believed the differences between Furcolo and the A.F.L. legislative spokesman were confined entirely to the sales tax, clicked up in surprise.

Summerfield Should Be Fired

One thing which seems clear to this observer about the postal mess of the past weekend is that Postmaster General Summerfield ought to be fired.

The victims of the row between Summerfield and congressional leaders over his deficiency appropriation were the general public and the postal employees.

From this distance it would not appear that Summerfield managed very well with the funds which were appropriated for the current fiscal year.

But even if Summerfield were right in his controversy with Congress, why should he vent his spite upon the public.

Summerfield's attitude throughout the argument was that if he didn't get every dollar he was demanding, the public would suffer, and he would see to it that they did suffer.

There is no more conscientious group of public employees anywhere than the postal workers, but Summerfield has displayed no more regard for them than he has for the general public.

It is difficult to see either how President Eisenhower can ignore the situation Summerfield created or how he can justify keeping in his cabinet a man who has demonstrated a complete disregard for the public convenience.

As a spokesman for the United Postal Workers well pointed out, Summerfield coldly and deliberately made pawns of the American people and the postal workers in his row with Congress. If President Eisenhower fails to throw Summerfield out, he will not be living up to his own responsibility to the voters who placed him in office.

these rooms and it is hoped that they will be ready for use before the end of the fall. The building committee has not made any commitments as to the time when the chapel and some other sections will be made fully ready for use. If they find that it will be too much of a financial burden to do all the work now, it may be necessary to defer some of the interior finishing, such as painting and laying the floor in some rooms until later. The building agreement makes it possible to postpone decision on a number of details until more is known about construction costs and the means of meeting them.

Gives Address On Cystic Fibrosis

A Newton physician, Dr. Harry Shwachman, nationally known for his work in cystic fibrosis, addressed a meeting of parents of C-F victims at the Parker House, Boston, Saturday evening, Apr. 6.

Dr. Shwachman, who resides at 130 Lake Avenue, Newton Center, is Director of Nutritional Laboratories at Children's Medical Center, Boston. He spoke to members of the Massachusetts chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, a newly-formed organization with a total regional membership of more than 500 parents. New equipment used in treatment of this crippling and often fatal disease was described and shown by Dr. Shwachman, who attained widespread recognition recently for his discovery of a new method of detection, a finger imprint test.

Cystic fibrosis is a disease of the lungs and pancreas, classified only in 1938. It is congenital and hereditary but not contagious. Approximately 7000 C-F babies are born of healthy parents in the U. S. annually, the ailment being transmitted through recessive genes of the parents. Until 1947, the disease was almost uniformly fatal before the age of five. Today, thanks to the use of antibiotics and other new methods of treatment, numerous patients have reached their teens and one New England girl with C-F is 23 years of age and has married.

Dr. Shwachman demonstrated equipment which is being used with an encouraging degree of success in the so-called Mistogen method of treatment, developed by Dr. Robert Denton, a Berkeley, California physician, who is currently residing in Newton while engaged in work at the Harvard School of Public Health. Dr. Denton's wife, known professionally as Dr. Wynne Sharples, is president of the Board of Trustees of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. Two of her three small children are C-F patients.

In the course of the Mistogen treatment, the patient is either placed in a plastic tent or fitted with a face mask, and inhales lung-clearing medication which is forced through a nebulizer by a small motor. This process, by thinning out the sticky fluid which clogs the lungs, helps reduce the chronic coughing which is characteristic of C-F patients.

Other major symptoms of C-F are abnormal bowel movements and huge appetite without weight gain, due to the damaged pancreas failing to produce digestive juices. The earlier diagnosis is made, the greater the patient's chances for a relatively long life.

Children's Feet Bigger But Are Not Better

If you think your children's feet grow faster than yours did, you're right; they do. According to Mr. George Nadel, proprietor of Nadel's Footwear, 1267 Centre street, Newton Centre, who ought to know, the average schoolchild's foot is two or three sizes larger than it was a generation ago.

The reason, Mr. Nadel says, is a lack of follow-through. Children get a better diet and more vitamins than ever before. As a result their feet grow faster. Unfortunately, all parents don't realize this, and too often allow children to wear shoes that have become too short or tight for them.

As a general rule, Mr. Nadel says, children need shoes every two months up to the age of 10, and after that they need them every two or three months. But this rate of growth varies and that means that at least within a month after your child has been fitted with new shoes, you should begin checking them every week to be sure they have not become too short.

The Newton specialist also reported on a positive pressure or "coughing" machine, which coughs artificially for the patient, helping to relieve the tired victim of this burden and aiding him in bringing up the tenacious, deadly mucus.

The Massachusetts chapter is one of 24 such groups throughout the country, which were organized to raise funds for C-F research and to acquaint both the professional and lay public with all aspects of the illness.

In addition to Dr. Shwachman's talk, there was presentation of a case history, plus group discussion of the forthcoming introduction in the state legislature of a bill to provide aid to C-F victims through the Crippled Children's Program, as is now done in Connecticut. In addition to the mental and emotional turmoil of parents of C-F patients, there is the tremendous financial burden, they must carry. Besides medical and hospital care, it was shown that drugs alone used in treatment can cost up to $900 a year.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lawrence Degen will make their home in Boston. The marriage of the former Miss Phyllis Haak Shannon and Mr. Degen took place last Saturday evening in Trinity Church, Newton Centre. In a setting of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, the Rev. Howard Dunbar officiated at the ceremony and the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Shannon of Newton Centre, was given in marriage by her father. A reception at the Longwood Cricket Club followed the eight o'clock service.

Lace medallions, embroidered with pearls and sequins, trimmed the portrait neckline of the bride's classic gown of white satin. Designed with long sleeves and bustle bow, the gown's full skirt ended in a sweeping chapel train. Her veil of imported illusion was caught to a wreath of orange blossoms and gardenias and stephanotis were used to create her cascade bouquet.

The matron of honor, Mrs. John C. Whitehead of Essex Fells, N. J., is the sister of the bride. Miss Susan Berquist of Geneva, Ill., and Miss Mary Louise Carroll of Cambridge were bridesmaids and Miss Anne E. Whitehead of Essex Fells, N. J., niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

The Body Wave is a form of permanent waving used on hair that either has a little natural wave or hair that waves easily. It does not add appreciably to the amount of wave already in the hair, but gives such strength and resiliency to the wave as to make the hair seem naturally wavy and remarkably easy to put up. It is for hair to which the ordinary permanent wave (however soft) gives too much curl. It is not generally advisable for straight hair.

Bits From Bigelow

P.T.A. MEETING
by Ellen Cerf
An assembly was held recently to help acquaint the parents with the different things offered by Newton High School. A panel of four from Bigelow addressed questions presented to them by parents, to a panel from Newton High. Mrs. Kunberger, 9th grade social studies teacher and guidance counselor, Miss Hamilton, assistant principal and 9th grade social studies teacher, Mrs. Epstein, representing the P.T.A. and Mr. Ring, 9th grade math teacher, made up Bigelow's panel.

Questions from the floor were also addressed, through Mr. Pray to Miss Curtis, acting principal of Newton High School. Mr. Brawn an instructor at the vocational school, Mr. Mitchell, a guidance counselor at the high school, and Mr. Lambert, also a guidance counselor, the four of whom composed Newton High's panel. The main topics brought up by the hundred who attended were curriculums and what distinguished them, extra-curricular activities the Kenyon program, college entrance requirements and the examinations and marking systems.

ALL STAR BASKETBALL

by Sue Hern
On Thursday, March 14, a group of twenty all-star basketball players from Bigelow journeyed to Meadowbrook for a play day.

We had two captains. Ellen Cerf was one. Her team included Pam Wilson, Leslie Wolbarst, Jean Newman, Joan Myer, Jean McGuffin, Paula Legere, Doris Axelrod, Renee Breznick and Sue Hern. The other captain was Toni Pompeo. Her team included Amy Angoff, Wenny Balos, Barbara Olan, Marcia Wegner, Judy Gold, Carolyn Barrette, Marie Hawkes, Linda Hoey and Barbara Hayes.

After two very exciting games, it was announced that Ellen's team and the Meadowbrook team had tied 18-18, while Toni's team had lost by a slim margin of 22-20.

Congratulations to all participants in the game. We were well matched.

9th GRADE MEETING

by Sue Hern
The meeting was called to order by President Harvey Creem. Formal business was dispensed with since we had distinguished visitors from Newton High School to talk to us.

Miss Curtis, acting principal, Mr. Neilson, acting assistant principal, Mr. Burkhardt, a guidance counselor and Mr. Brawn of the Technical Vocational School answered questions pertaining to the high school program. The interregators from Bigelow were Doris Axelrod, May Beth Rosenberg, Harvey Creem, and Alan Copeland, while Mr. Pray acted as moderator.

Questions concerned comparison of Curricula I and II, technical courses after high school, college, business courses, and many other fields of interest.

A general question and answer period followed the panel discussion which proved quite informative.

Easter Seal Campaign $104,693 Shy of Goal

Crippled children and adults in Massachusetts need $104,693 more if they are to receive rehabilitation services in the coming year, Tenley Albright, chairman of the 1957 state-wide Easter Seal appeal said today.

"Less than 15 percent of the families in Massachusetts have responded to the Easter Seal campaign so far," Miss Albright said, "but there still is time to meet the goal and assure the continuation of Easter Seal services."

Miss Albright urged the residents of Massachusetts to help put the modest goal of $285,000 over the top this Easter weekend. "Failure to raise this amount," she said, "means that many crippled children and adults throughout the state will be deprived of the chance to learn to walk, to go to school, and to earn a living. It is up to each of us to assure that every crippled person has an opportunity to be useful and independent. We can do this by sending our contributions in the envelope we received with our Easter Seals or directly to Crippled Children, care of the local post office."

Latest official reports from across Massachusetts show that the campaign has reached the $180,307 mark, which is 63 percent of the goal, Miss Albright said.

The Greater Boston area has raised $37,126 or 60 percent of its goal, it was reported at the same time by Henry K. White, vice president of the First National Bank, Boston, and area treasurer.

Oak Hill Assn. To Meet April 29

The Oak Hill District Improvement Association will have its annual meeting on Monday, April 29, at 8:15 p.m. at the Meadowbrook Junior High School.

Harold Putnam, Needham town moderator, will preside at a "mock town meeting." Arrangements are being handled by Jack Roberts of 210 Upland avenue, Newton Highlands and Eric Hanson of 239 Wiswall road, Newton Centre, secretary and president of the group.

Two Are Named State Hospital Trustees

Gov. Foster Furcolo last week submitted to the Executive Council, two nominations of Newton residents as trustees of State hospitals.

Those whose names were submitted were, Mrs. Margaret Delaney of 53 Crescent avenue, Newton Centre, as trustee of Wrentham State Hospital, replacing Florence Birmingham of Foxboro. She is the mother of six children, and a graduate of Regis College, Weston.

Mrs. Gertrude Scheft of Newton, as a trustee of the Metropolitan State Hospital in Waltham, replacing Paul C. Griffin of Watertown. Mr. Scheft lives at 101 Exeter street, West Newton and is an alumni officer of Abbott Academy, having been graduated there in 1940. She received her degree from Radcliffe College in 1946, and is a member of the Education Committee of Temple Shalom. Married to William Scheft, she is the mother of five children.

Olds Owner: That's nothing, wait'll you take a ride.

(A few minutes later:)

Neighbor: Man-oh-man, where'd all that power come from? I've never felt anything like that before!

Olds Owner: That's Oldsmobile's new J-2 Rocket Engine!

Neighbor: What's that? Tell me how it works.

Olds Owner: When you're driving under ordinary conditions, it uses only one carburetor. That means economy with a capital E. But when you need a sudden burst of power, for safety's sake, you just press the accelerator three-quarters of the way down—and two additional carburetors cut in!

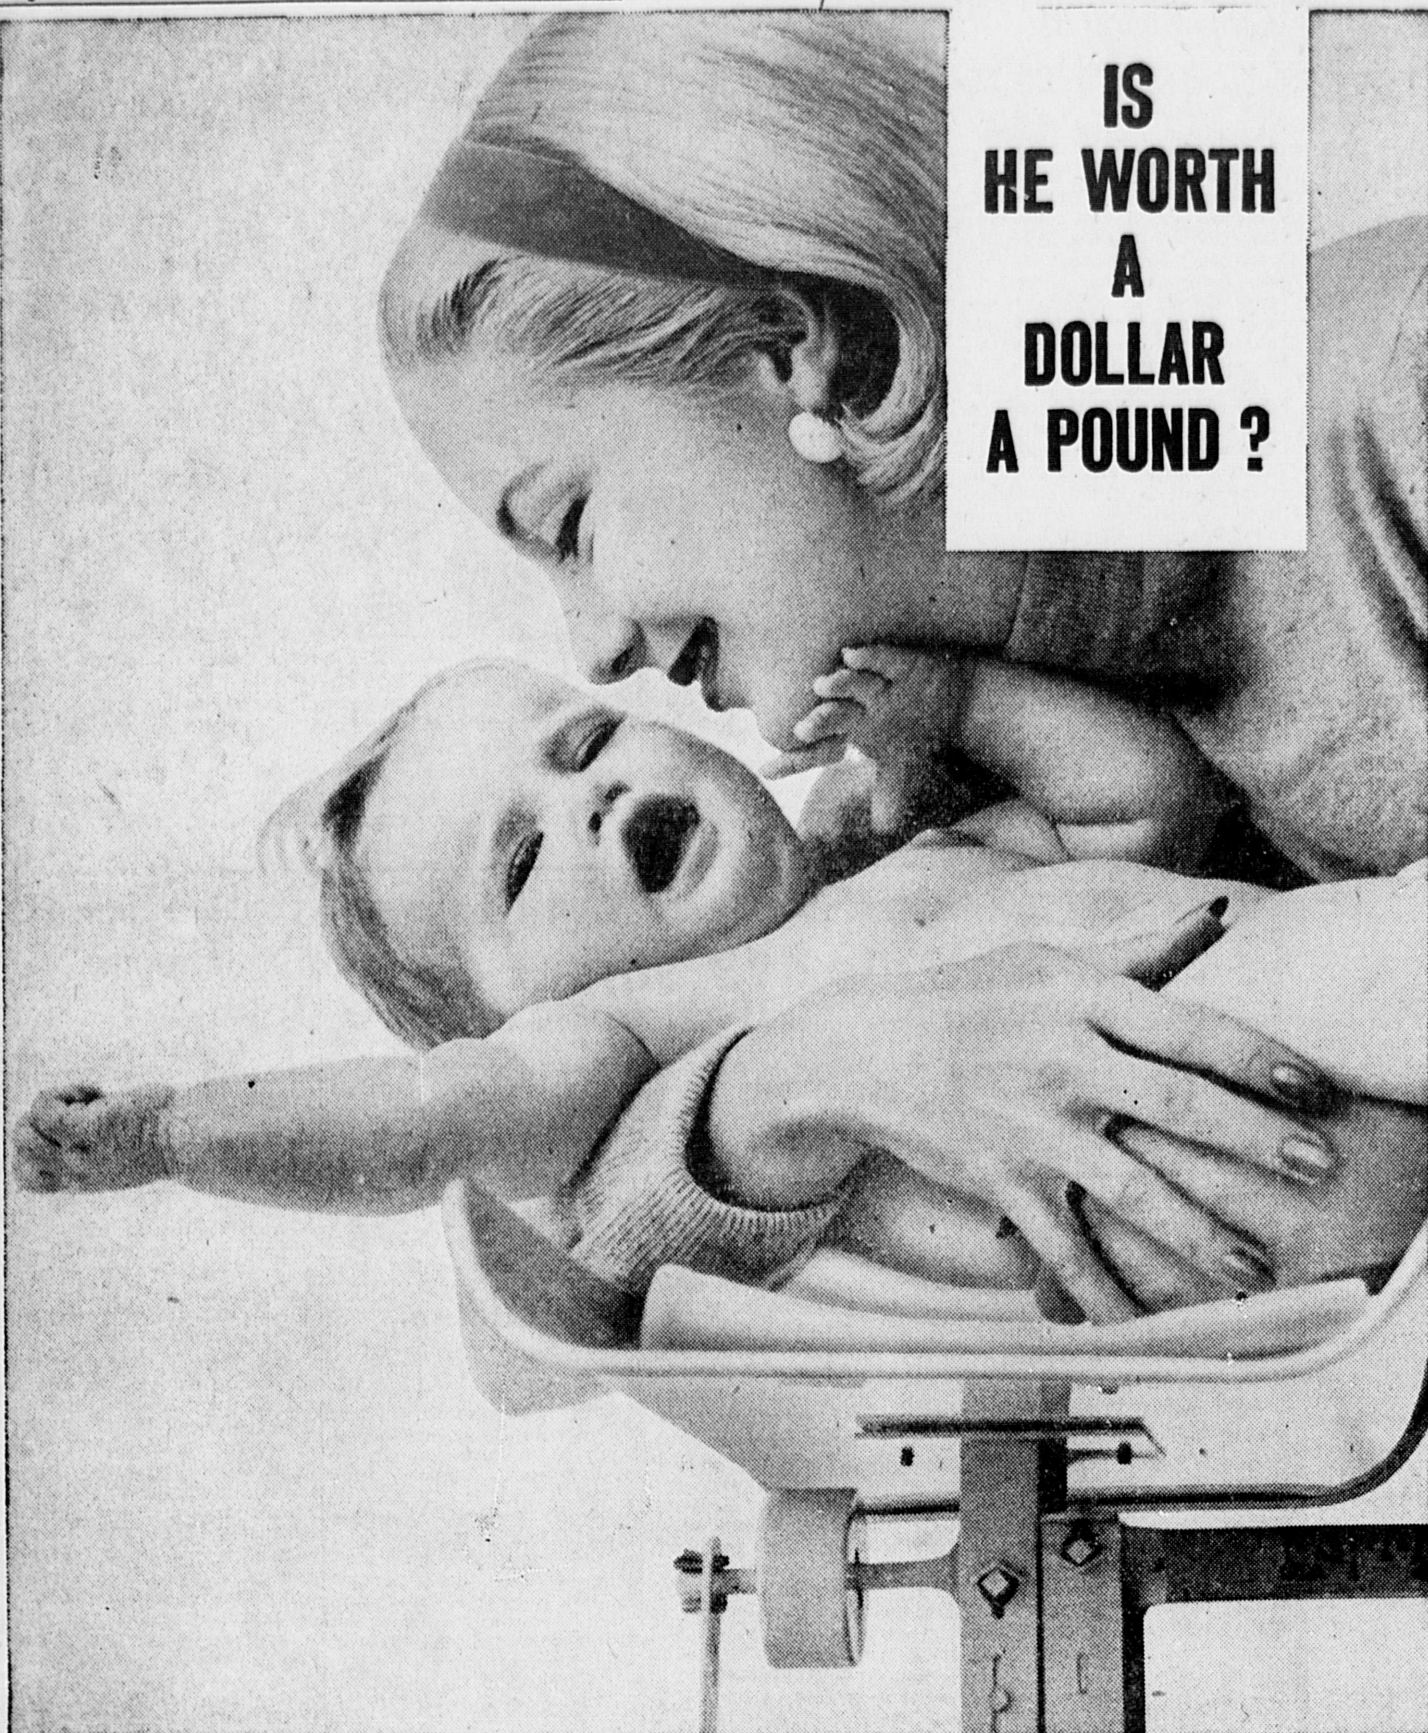

Neighbor: In other words, with J-2, you can have economy when you want it and power when you need it. That's for me!

Olds Owner: Better see your Olds dealer. He's expecting you!

Prof. Soloway to Speak On Tax Needs of State

Professor Arnold M. Soloway, Economist at Harvard University, will speak on "Our Tax Needs and How to Meet Them" at a public meeting sponsored by the Newton-Wellesley Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action at the Clafflin School, Lowell Avenue, Newtonville, Apr. 24 at 8:15 p.m.

Newton Legislators will be present to assist in the discussion along with a panel of experts representing various points of view on local tax problems, the pros and cons of the sales tax, etc.

Professor Soloway, one of the leading opponents of Governor

Furcolo's sales tax proposal is the author of a widely circulated study of tax problems prepared for the State Board of ADA and entitled "A Balanced Fiscal Program for Massachusetts". Mr. Soloway has had numerous speaking engagements throughout the State and maintains that needed increases in revenue may be obtained by revisions in the present personal state income tax.

The V-2 Division of USS SHANGRI-LA (CVA-38), called the "Can Do Cat Crew," claims to have set a new record in launching aircraft. Eight FJ Furies were launched with an average of a 16.5-second interval between. A mixed launch of four F2H BANSHEES, two F4F PANTHERS, and six FJ FURIES, averaged 20 seconds between planes. This equals 12 perfect plays by a pro-football team.

MEETING at the home of Mrs. Seymour Hambro of Newton to make final arrangements for the annual luncheon on April 30 of the Brandeis Women's Committee are these members of the executive planning committee: seated front, Mrs. Seymour Hambro, life membership chairman, and Mrs. Maxwell A. Cohen, president of the Greater Boston chapter; back, left to right: Mrs. Robert Talkov, treasurer; Mrs. Louis Segal, Mrs. Harold Abrams, vice-president of the Newton area; Mrs. Julian Cohen, and Mrs. George Roberts, financial secretary. All funds from the membership drive will go toward the new $5,000,000 library to be constructed on the Brandeis campus this year.

Church Teachers Workshop Is Planned

A one day Training Workshop for teachers of religious education within the 24 church membership of the Newton Council of Churches, and sponsored by the Council, will be held at Second Church (Congregational in West Newton) starting at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, May 4.

Realizing that a meeting of the minds, and discussion between the teaching staffs of the various denominations can be best accomplished by such a Workshop, the following has been programmed:

9:30 a.m. Registration and Coffee Hour.

10:00 a.m. Worship Service conducted by Rev. Paul Myers, Minister of Christian Education, Massachusetts Congregational-Christian Churches.

10:30 a.m. Teaching Methods: Nursery by Mrs. Richard Salinger, Director of Religious Education, Eliot Congregational Church and Newton Methodist Church. Kindergarten by Mrs. Marvin Shaw, Kindergarten Superintendent, Eliot Congregational Church and Newton Methodist Church. Primary by Miss Louise Drew, Director of Religious Education of Second Church. Junior by Miss Lillian Moeschler, Associate, Boston Missionary Society. Junior High by Mr. Charles Brown, Administrative Assistant to Superintendent of Schools in Newton.

Following a luncheon for which reservations may be made through May 2 at the office of Miss Drew at Second Church (BI 4-2690), the Workshop will continue as follows:

1:00-2:45 p.m. Drama in the Church School by Mr. Jay Buell, Student Assistant at Second Church. Creative Activities for Primary Divisions by Miss Louise Drew. Creative Activities for Junior and Junior High groups by Miss Lillian Moeschler. Audio Visual Aids by Mrs. John Lavelly, Director of Religious Education, First Church in Newton (Congregational in Newton Centre).

A closing Worship Service will be conducted by Dr. Edmund Linn, Professor of Speech, Andover-Newton Theological School.

Cub Scout Packs 1 and 101 Hold Mardi Gras Night

Cub Scouts Packs 1 and 101 celebrated Mardi Gras Night, recently at the Clafflin School, Newton. The first order of business was the Bobcat Ceremony for three new Cubs: Dzintars Alksnitis, James Conlon, and Harley Stark; this was followed by the presentation of awards for achievements to: Richard Diamond, Charles Cherniak, Paul Murphy, Howard Sherman, Dick Parker, Steven Selkowitz, Henry Isenberg, Carl Roberts, William Smith, John Larson, Barry Horowitz, Randy Gahn, Richard Feldman, Steve Hillman, Robert Marcus, Daniel Lax, Deane Ford, James Robertson, Bernard Finkle, Jerry Silverman, Matthew Kraft, Steven Stavis, Bobby Salter, Bruce Levy, Martie Berke, Bruce Feldman, Earl Rose, Michael Rossman and Stanley Grossman.

The Cubs who were ticket selling winners for the Boy Scout Show held last month at Newton High School under the sponsorship of the Newtonville Group were given pencil and pens; these were: Kevin Donahue, David Freed, Larry Leeder, Richard Ryan, Jimmy Roshbar, Billy Smith, Jonathan Scharrer, Elliot Feldman, James Sacher, John Friedlander, Robert Salter, Louis Stavis, and Earl Rose.

Over 150 crewmen of the GREAT WHITE SQUADRON, the first Navy unit to go around the world under steam in 1907-1908, held their 49th Anniversary this year at San Diego, California. Chairman of the event was Harry Morse, TMC, who enlisted in 1903, is still on active duty and plans to remain on active until the 50th Anniversary of the Squadron is held.

Safety Tip: You can go through the entire touring season without a single mishap if you'll remember one simple safety rule: TAKE IT EASY. Hurrying causes impatience, and it's the impatient driver who gets into trouble. TAKE IT EASY when you're behind the wheel of an automobile, warns the Triple-A.

Senior Girl Scout Planning Board Holds Tea

The Newton Senior Girl Scout Planning Board attended a tea at their last meeting held April 5 at the home of Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, president of the Newton Council of Girl Scouts. Nancy Derr, a mariner, acted as hostess.

Among the many important items included on the agenda which was discussed were Newton's responsibilities in the upcoming Neholden Senior Conference to be held May 4. A steering committee made up of Senior representatives from each council has been planning this stimulating and most worthwhile event. The communities sponsoring this conference include Medfield, Natick, Needham, Newton, Norwood, Sharon, Walpole, Wayland, Wellesley and Westwood.

The conference May 4 will be an all day affair and will take place at Cedar Hill, Walham. All senior girl scouts are invited to attend and eighth grade troops may attend the afternoon activities.

Four Different Camping Plans Are Being Offered To Newton Boys

Offering varying interesting "growth" opportunities, four different camping programs are being offered boys from Newton and surrounding communities for the 1957 season by the Newton Young Men's Christian Association, according to an announcement from George R. Strandberg, president and Louis H. Morrison, chairman of the Y's Youth Work committee.

Camp Frank A. Day, the Newton Y's residence camp, located on the shores of Lake Quaquamisset in East Brookfield, will open Wednesday, June 26, for its 42nd year. Enrollments are now coming in for each of two four week periods. Capacity enrollment is 168. The camp was founded in 1916, through the efforts of the late C. D. Kepner and other Newton YMCA Board members. Three unit divisions are used: Midget, Junior, and Senior. Frank M. Simmons is camp director.

Opening also in June will be the two day camps, Massasoit and Chickami, and Camp Vagabond, the "trip camp." Enrollments will soon open for these camps.

Camp Massasoit activities are held on the playfields and on the grounds of the YMCA at 276 Church Street, in Newton. Richard B. Simmons is director with Edward R. DiPersio as associate. Boys enrolled in "Indian Tribes" for group work. Leon A. Huston, is chairman of the Camp Massasoit committee.

Camp Chickami, founded in 1946, will open for its 12th season as a YMCA camping program and its third in its Wayland location, also on June 24. Russell E. Ball, Youth Work Secretary of the Newton YMCA will again direct the camp. William E. Hopkins is the chairman of the Camp Chickami committee. Nature study is a chief interest with all boys enrolled except to the beauties and wonders of the natural world around them on the wooded banks of Pine Brook on the 11 acre site of the camp in Wayland. Chickami boys, also, are enrolled in groups, each with a leader-counselor for effective work.

Camp Vagabond, an "adventure" camp was offered for the first time in 1954 under the sponsorship of the Youth Work Committee of the Newton YMCA. Camping trips through Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts have been taken. Leader of the 1957 trip will be Elton E. Bertsch, associate Youth Work Secretary. Philip Lashway is the Camp Vagabond chairman.

More than six hundred boys were enrolled last year in Newton YMCA camping as follows: Camp Day—224; Camp Massasoit—210; Camp Chickami—226; and Camp Vagabond—13.

The Newton YMCA is a charter member of the Newton Community Chest and Community Council.

HONORED—Theodore W. Eerenson, of 256 Ward St., Newton, vice-president of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies, was named chairman of the Advance Gifts Committee for the current Combined Jewish Appeal campaign and the simultaneous one million dollar Emergency Rescue Fund to save 100,000 Jews from Egypt and Communist dominated lands.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

Department store sales in Massachusetts during February totaled 2 percent more than a year ago, the same as they did in January, as reported by the Federal Reserve Bank.

New Incorporations

There were 341 new business incorporations in Massachusetts during February, 4 percent more than a year ago, as reported by Dun and Bradstreet.

Insurance Sales

Sales of life insurance in Massachusetts during February, exclusive of industrial and group insurance, totaled $92,630,000, an increase of 15 percent above those a year ago. For the first two months of 1957, sales totaled 19 percent above those in the same period last year, as reported by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association.

Grocery Stores

Food stores in Massachusetts in 1954 had sales of $1,412,646,000, 51 percent of the total in New England. Of the Massachusetts sales, 89 percent were by grocery stores, 5 percent by meat and fish markets, 3 percent by bakeries, 2 percent by fruit and vegetable stores and 1 percent by candy and nut stores, as recorded by the 1954 census of business.

Fruits and Vegetables

During 1956, there were 48,736 car lots, or their equivalent, of fresh fruits and vegetables unloaded at Boston. Of these, 21.6 percent came from California, 17 percent from Florida, 13.3 percent from Maine, 10.8 percent from Massachusetts, 4.5 percent from Texas and 2.6 percent from Canada. The five largest products were: potatoes, 10,216 car lots; lettuce, 3,174; oranges, 2,914; tomatoes, 2,873; bananas, 2,351. Next in volume were celery, 1,815 car lots; onions, 1,640; cabbage, 1,618; apples, 1,570; grapes, 1,541; carrots, 1,265; peaches, 1,227; cucumbers, 1,221; grapefruit, 1,219; corn, 1,179; cantaloupes, 1,112; and watermelons, 1,100, as reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Of the 48,736 total, 56.9 percent came in by rail and 43.1 percent by truck. The figures do not include shipments by local or small independent truckers.

Attention, Homemakers!

SIGNS OF SPRING

Driving to Boston recently we saw a woman with a paper bag and knife diligently searching a grassy plot for the first tender dandelion shoots. Truly a sign of Spring, even more reliable than the first robin.

Most of the dandelion greens and other "signs of spring" on the market today are coming from the southern states, but before April is over local products will be found on the produce counters.

Lent is still with us and the problem of serving "nutritional" adequate and popular meals on meatless days is a continuing one. Aside from spring vegetables currently on the market, best buy lists show little change from week to week.

For a quick and easy-to-serve meal, why not serve scrambled eggs? They go well for any meal—breakfast, lunch and supper. With a little imagination scrambled eggs can be made into an extra special dish. Try adding such items as tomato or mushroom soup, cheese, chopped celery, onion chive or green pepper for that extra sparkle and appetite appeal.

High School, he has served in the Army.

At Carleton College in Minnesota, Constance Newall of West Newton is chairman of publicity for this year's junior show, the Broadway hit "Harvey." She is the daughter of Mrs. Constance Newall of 79 Hillside Ave.

Meadowbrook Jr. High News

THE PEP SQUAD
by Jane Sutherland

Meadowbrook is unique in many ways, and its Pep Squad is no exception. The squad, chosen in the fall, does the work of a cheerleading squad. However, Miss Schofield, the girls' gym instructor, has added something new. Instead of only cheering at games the Pep Squad is expected to bolster school spirit at all times. Eighteen girls belong to this group, but only half cheer during each game; the others spread out in the stands and keep the students cheering the team on.

The girls wear white blouses, charcoal bermuda shorts, charcoal kneesocks with green and white pom-poms, and a Meadowbrook emblem.

Participating in the squad are: Enid Linsky, Carolyn Taitebaum, Judy Malone, Jessica Brown, Linda Newman, Donna Richmond, Alice Ullman, Jane Sutherland, Eileen Rottenberg, Ellen Roberts, Sue Shapiro, Donna Golub, Sue Greenblatt, Connie White, Laurie MacDougal, Pat Bagley, Sue D'Amico, and Lynne Wolfe.

Every day a number of busy little people attend the Oak Hill Nursery School. Their teacher is Eleanor Brownell. The school is operated in the Meadowbrook Junior High School because of lack of space at the Oak Hill School and in order that home economics students may gain practical experience in working with children.

These three and four-year-olds are "bundles of energy." They are lovable, bright, and quite inquisitive about everything in their environment.

In the well equipped nursery school they learn to play happily with each other. These youngsters enjoy playing at keeping-house, caring for babies, driving cars, and flying planes. When weather permits, they enjoy playing outdoors on the apparatus provided for them. In working with many kinds of materials, each carries out his own ideas, or several plan and work together. They model with clay, paint pictures, and use crayons. They enjoy picture books and begin to learn to take care of them. Together they listen to stories and music, or sing songs.

Good Pay, Bright Future for 1957 College Grads

College graduates this year can expect good pay and an easy transition from campus to office, say the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. Smart undergraduates have already been tapped, and the not-so-smart ones won't have any serious worries.

Engineers lead the pack of the most-wanted men. Need for them is better than a third higher than it was a year ago. Then, in order of demand for them, come salesmen, business trainers, accountants, chemists, production management experts, insurance men and financial trainers.

Although hundreds of recruitment officials have been beating the campuses looking for male help, they generally wait for the girls to come to them. Jobs where women are wanted include general business trainees, salesgirls, secretaries, engineers, statisticians, chemists and merchandising experts.

The average starting pay for men is $401, compared with $383 per month a year ago. Engineers will get the most—$433 a month. Accountants will average about $389, salesmen $385, general business trainees $382. A master's degree is said to add about another $100 a month to a neophyte engineer's pay, a Ph.D. an additional $150 over that. Salaries for girls, job for job, are somewhat lower than for men.

City Would Get Back Two-Thirds of the Sales Tax

Sales Tax Figures Used Are Based On Outlined Plan

Under Governor Furcolo's proposed formula for dividing the money raised by the limited 3 per cent sales tax, this city would receive about two-thirds of the amount paid in taxes by its citizens.

The Garden City, because of its size, would fare much better under the sales tax arrangement than would its neighboring, smaller cities and towns.

According to our reckoning, Newton residents would pay something over $2,163,375 in sales taxes, and the city would get back from the State $1,456,640.

The Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Association figures this would result in a $5.80 reduction in this city's — SALES TAX —

POLITICAL OVERTONES

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor
Legislators Still Undecided
Whether to Support Sales Tax

Governor Furcolo's prospects of getting his sales tax bill through the Legislature do not appear to have improved noticeably since his announcement of his proposed formula for distributing about 70 percent of the money it is estimated would be raised by the tax.

He has received strong support from newspapers, civic and business groups, but comparatively few legislators as yet have stepped forward to rally behind him in his crucial sales tax battle.

A vast number of lawmakers obviously are extremely wary as to how the people, who have had little to say about the sales tax but who do the bulk of the voting on election day, will feel about the tax—not now, but if and when they are called upon to pay it.

The Governor from all indications has lost the support of some of the legislators from the small towns which do not fare at all well under his plan for dividing the sales tax funds. So far, ironically, he has not been able to offset that loss by winning over Democratic legislators from the big cities in whose favor the formula is weighted.

In fairness to Governor Furcolo, it perhaps should be — POLITICAL OVERTONES —

Highland Line Doomed?

R. R. Official Says Action To Be Taken

Almost on the eve of the conference called by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., of officials representing over 30 communities, for the purpose of discussing, among other things, the transportation problem, a statement released yesterday morning (Wednesday) by H. H. Harwood, general manager of the B. & A. division of the New York Central railroad, would indicate that complete abandonment of its Highland Branch is contemplated. This was prefaced with the intimation that abandonment of the branch would be pressed regardless of whether the MTA takes the right-of-way for extension of its rapid transit facilities or not.

COMMUTERS AFFECTED

Should abandonment of the Highland branch be effected, without the MTA stepping in with an alternative service, 1700 daily commuters, mostly those living in Newton, would be without public transportation to Boston.

It was stated that a study of the Highland Branch operation is being conducted preliminary to the filing of a petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission for abandonment of the line.

It is understood that at a closed-door session of the legislative commission on Mercantile Affairs, Harwood intimated that the 10-mile branch line from Riverside to the South Station in Boston "was doing so little business that the railroad felt it could not continue to absorb the losses."

HALF A CENTURY

Abandonment of the line, in operation for more than half a century, would also mean loss of jobs for between 40 and 50 railroad men, Harwood estimated.

At present there are 12 trips a day over the branch line with five trains inbound and seven outbound. The passenger count

Zone Change For Hotel To Be Heard

A hearing is scheduled to be held May 6 by the Board of Aldermen on the petition for a change in zoning from residence E which allows garden-type apartments to Business A, which if adopted would permit the erection of this city's first hotel. The hotel would be built by St. Paul Construction Co., and leased to the Hotel Corporation of America.

The plans call for a 53-unit motor hotel on the Worcester Turnpike at Hammond Pond Parkway in Chestnut Hill. The complete details of this project were carried in The Graphic in its issue of April 11.

Aboard Airliner In Bomb Threat

"Oh, sure I'll fly again," declares Dr. Meyer Ritvo of Newton. "Anytime!"

The radiologist and his two sons, James, 10, and Roger, 12, were passengers Sunday aboard one of three Pan American planes forced to make emergency landings at Logan Airport after a telephoned bomb threat.

They were returning home after a fortnight's vacation in Pembroke parish, Bermuda.

The Ritvos' four-engine plane had left Bermuda at 3 p.m. and was scheduled to arrive in Boston at 9:30 p.m. About three-quarters of an hour out of Boston, the pilot was informed of an anonymous telephone warning to the New York office. A muffled male voice said "a bomb had been planted on a Pan American plane" and "would go off at 4:30 p.m."

The warning set in motion a series of events which involved 11 planes and over 900 passengers, among them the Newton radiologist and his sons. Their plane sped to make a landing before the expected bomb could go off.

State Allots City $70,000 For Streets

The Department of Public Works, according to Rep. George E. Rawson (R-Newton), has allotted to Newton under Chapter 90 of the General Laws, the sum of $70,000 for the reconstruction of Lexington street, from Commonwealth avenue, to the Walnut line and of Auburn street from Washington street to Commonwealth avenue.

The total cost of the projects is $140,000 of which the Commonwealth pays half, Middlesex County one-fourth, and this city, one-fourth, as is the rule with so-called "Chapter 90" work.

Both of these streets are in a badly worn condition. The reconstruction will be a three inch bituminous concrete surface laid on a twelve inch coarse gravel base.

R. R. Station Hearing Set For Monday

The Department of Public Utilities will hold a public hearing in Room 166 State House this Monday at 10 a.m. on the petition of the New York Central Railroad (Boston and Albany) to discontinue the agency at its Newton station and transfer the business to the jurisdiction of the agent at the West Newton station.

To all intents and purposes this probably means that the railroad seeks permission to close the Newton station.

Rep. George Rawson urges all Newton commuters who possibly can do so, to appear at this hearing and object against this threat to Newton service.

Mayor Hynes of Boston Favors Idea

A full discussion of the proposed MTA rapid transit extension over the tracks of the Highland branch of the Boston and Albany railroad, during which representatives of over thirty-five Greater Boston communities participated, was held at City Hall here last night (Wednesday). The conference was called by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., for the purpose of attempting to determine what action should be taken not only in this proposal but other matters relating to suburban and community development of Greater Boston.

HYNES SAYS YES

Mayor John B. Hynes of Boston, prior to the meeting last night, left no doubt as to where he stood in the proposed extension of the MTA system through Newton. He contended it was "essential that the MTA further its outlets in order to reduce its deficit operations."

Continuing he said the "area west of Boston is growing rapidly and will continue to grow because of the toll road. It is obvious traffic from a westerly direction converging into downtown Boston will tax the capacity of our already overtaxed parking facilities. In my estimation, the Highland branch, connected to frequent rapid transit service, would not only serve a much desired purpose in transporting large numbers of people into downtown Boston, but also would be a profitable venture for the MTA."

CONTROLS MTA COUNCIL

In the communities now comprising the MTA District, the city of Boston controls in practice, if not in theory, the future growth and expansion of the MTA system. It possesses sufficient votes to either approve or disapprove any further extension. This is probably due in large measure to the high percentage of the deficit of the MTA system which it must absorb, leaving the other fourteen or fifteen communities in the district, to take up the slack.

It was, therefore, significant that prior to last night's meeting, the mayor of Boston should unilaterally favor the Highland branch extension of the MTA system.

PROBABLY INEVITABLE

Although Newton's wishes in the matter of the Highland branch were respected and con-

To Visit Old Sturbridge Village Today

Twenty-seven 7th Grade pupils of Bigelow Junior high school will tour Old Sturbridge Village today (Thursday), to see how their ancestors lived and worked during the first fifty years of America's independence as a nation.

On arrival at Old Sturbridge, the students will assemble at the Meetinghouse at the top of the Village Green where they will hear about the first two essentials in the development of an early New England village; a grist mill, to turn out flour, and a blacksmith shop to produce building hardware and farm implements. They will then visit these mills and shops to see just how they operated 150 years ago.

The students will be accompanied on the tour of the Village today by Miss Nancy Leverich, teacher at the Bigelow Junior high school.

Over 1,500 to Take Part In Meeting Here

When Congregationalists from 600 churches gather in Newton, May 20-22 for a three-day conference to mark the 150th anniversary of the organization of the first Congregational seminary in America, they will use a Jewish temple for several of their meetings.

Headquarters for the three-day program will be at the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre.

The Andover Theological Seminary, founded in 1807, was the first Congregational seminary in America. In 1931, it was merged with the Newton Theological Institution, a Baptist group, to become the Andover Newton Theological School now located on a 40-acre hill-top campus at Newton Centre.

More than 1500 clergy, delegates, Christian educators and laymen will be taking part in the meetings.

Officials of the Temple Emmanuel in Newton Centre, one of the largest and most prominent Jewish organizations in Newton have offered use of their spacious facilities to the Congregationalists. The Rev. Dr. Albert Buckner Coe, President of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, announced today that the invitation had been accepted.

Frank Grant Heads Cerebral Palsy Drive

Frank M. Grant, retired Newton City Clerk, has been named chairman by Harold T. Pillsbury, president of the United Cerebral Palsy Affiliates of Newton-Wellesley and Weston for the forthcoming Golden Deed Crusade. May 14 will be the date of the house-to-house solicitation for funds by the Golden Deed Patrol.

Grant has resided in Newton since 1904 and served the City of Newton as City Clerk for 42 years. He served as president of — GRANT —

The regular meeting of the Woman's Association of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville will be held at noon next Wednesday.

The annual meeting and election of officers will be at this time and luncheon will be served at 1:00 under the direction of Mrs. Robert L. Gourley and Mrs. Peter Donovan, co-chairman. Mrs. William E. Bell will have charge of the dining room.

The afternoon program will consist of an illustrated talk "From West to East" by Mrs. Anton R. Fried.

Slight Cost Boost For Out-of-Town Pupils' Tuition

In an effort to help overcome increased costs and to decrease the size of classes, the Newton School Committee voted on Monday night to raise the rates of tuition for out-of-town pupils.

Beginning next September, outsiders will have to pay $436 for tuition at the high school, as compared with $392 this year. Junior high tuition was raised from $351 to $358, and elementary school charges were raised slightly from $255 to $259.

Immediately upon being named by Pillsbury, Mr. Grant called for volunteers to join in the two-hour house-to-house canvass, May 14. "This year," Mr. Grant said, "United Cerebral Palsy has worked out a plan that will not tax any volunteer. We will cover the Newton-Wellesley area. Except for a briefing, which will precede the actual patrol, no other time demands will be made upon the volunteers."

This is the fourth salon to be opened in Greater Boston with others in Quincy, Brookline and downtown Boston.

New Slimming Salon Opened Here Monday

Milady of Newton has a new opportunity to cut that fashionable figure she may be yearning for.

A new Slenderella Salon opened Monday at 206 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill, opposite the Chestnut Hill Shopping Center, with its proclaimed purpose "a common sense approach to the problem of obesity and posture in women."

Eloise English, executive vice president of Slenderella, was assisted by Mayor Howard Whitcomb of Newton at official ribbon-cutting ceremonies. Miss English was recently named one of the top 12 women in business by the Golden Slipper Club, Philadelphia, and one of the best dressed women in America by the Fashion Academy.

The world's largest chain of slenderizing salons, Slenderella International comprises 186 salons scattered from Beverly Hills to New York, in Europe, Canada and Hawaii, which treat an average of 25,000 women every day.

Founded in 1950 by Larry Mack with the aid of Miss English, Slenderella bases its program on claims that incorrect posture, poor circulation and over-eating are among the principal causes of overweight and flabby muscles.

Leading authorities in the fields of medicine, nutrition and physical education have aided in developing its three-fold program of diet, exercises and mental therapy, aimed at what Miss English calls a "conductive frame of mind."

The new Salon in Chestnut Hill will offer a free figure analysis and a sample treatment. The salon manager, after determining the weight and inches a patron should lose, will prescribe a course of weekly treatments designed to give a woman "her best possible figure."

has for its objectives these two principles:

"The promotion of Brotherhood and Democracy on a day-to-day basis."

"The stimulation among the people of the local community; Protestant, Catholic and Jew, white and colored; of cooperative effort for neighborhood conservation and improvement."

For these objectives and ideals in today's most volatile area of Human Relations, the Snowden's are being honored.

The annual award is given by Temple Reyim Brotherhood in recognition of outstanding and significant contributions in the field of human relations. Previous recipients have been Dr. Harold C. Case, president of Boston University, and Norman Platt, former vice-president of Temple Reyim.

The Award Committee was assisted this year in its selection of candidates by Dr. Kenneth Benny, Dean of the Boston University School of Human Relations, and John Ahearn, president of the Human Relations Council of this city.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS
A fellow here in town hit on a surefire plan to put an end to his family's pleas for a brand-new TV set. He knew that their four-year-old set was far from ready for the junk-heap . . . and decided to prove that its pictures were just as clear and dependable as anything 1957 had to offer. So he brought the little woman in here to prove his point with a comparison demonstration, and . . . you guessed it . . . the only person's mind he changed was his own!

The incident reminds us of a story that's now part of TV history. Just before World War II, an electronics company in Holland prepared a mobile television unit—cameras and receivers—and toured from city to city to show the people of Europe that television was not sufficiently developed to make it worthwhile as a public service. Actually, they were showing a picture comparable to the ones the BBC was broadcasting regularly in London. And the company succeeded only in stimulating the public interest they had meant to discourage.

Well, it's only normal for people to feel that, in a field like electronics, the newest developments can't be as good as they're claimed to be. But, after all, seeing is believing . . . and we don't ask you to take our word for the superior qualities of the RCA Victor "Big Color" TV sets. All we ask is that you come in and look them over. See RCA first . . . at sidered at the meeting last night, there appears every indication that the acquisition of the Highland branch of the rail road by the MTA system is only a question of time. Certainly, real estate men, planning board officials and civic leaders of communities to the west of Boston have long realized that with the rapid growth of these cities and towns over the last 15 years, some more satisfactory transportation system must evolve. There is little disagreement with that appraisal.

OTHER MATTERS

But the matter of transportation was not the only issue discussed last night. Mayor Whitmore in calling the meeting some two weeks ago declared that the entire Greater Boston problem should be reviewed and considered for the common good of all the communities involved. This was done last night and it is believed that much good will result from the conference. Due, however, to the lateness of the hour into which the meeting extended and because a press deadline had to be met by The Graphic, further details of the entire matter will be given more fully next week.

Week-ends are the most dangerous time to be on U. S. highways. In 1956, more than 56 percent of all fatalities occurred on Friday, Saturday and Sundays.

Newton's 'Young Man of '56' Heads World Affairs Council

Franklin N. Flaschner of Newton Centre, chosen Newton's outstanding young man of 1956 earlier this year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was elected chairman of the World Affairs Council of Newton Tuesday night when the group held its fourth annual meeting at the N. C. Methodist Church.

A "World Affairs Round-Up", the meeting consisted of a summary of activities in the international field which were held in Newton during the year. A discussion of the role of the Council in Newton was moderated by Mrs. John C. McClintock and representatives of clubs and groups which held inof raising money for UNICEF is being copied throughout the country.

The World Politics Discussion Groups held throughout the year in the libraries were discussed by Mrs. Mitchell Marcus, while Mrs. Joseph M. Miller reported on the successful five night series of meetings, "Suez — See It Now and Talk It Over," which were held during February and attracted over 200 people. The program was a joint one with the League of Women Voters of Newton.

Miss Barbara Whiting of Newton and Miss Bodil Westergren of Sweden, who are students at Newton High School and participants in the American Field Service Program of High School Exchanges, spoke on the many facets of this program and of their own personal experiences. Miss Whiting in Greece and Miss Westergren's here in Newton.

Newton played host to members of the Harvard International Seminar again this year. This activity was presented by Harold T. Pillsbury of the Mayor's office.

Other officers of the Council which is affiliated with the United Council on World Affairs of Boston, who were elected on Tuesday, are Vice Chairman, Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. John W. Locke; Recording Secretary, Mrs. David White; Treasurer, Mr. Robert P. Lurvey. Newly elected Directors are Prof. Harold J. Berman, Mrs. Thomas H. Bresnahan, Mr. Paul Deats, Jr., Mrs. W. S. Knickerbocker, Mrs. Loy L. Long, Mrs. Mitchell Marcus, Mrs. John C. McClintock, Mrs. Joseph M. Miller, Mr. Robert H. it was said, has been dropping steadily and a preliminary study is understood to reveal that there are fewer riders using the outbound service than the inbound service.

The branch also does a small freight business and this too, will be discontinued when the passenger traffic ends.

SEVEN STATIONS

In addition to the Riverside terminal here, there are six other stations in this city which would be affected should abandonment take place. They are Woodland, Waban, Elliot, Newton Highlands, Newton Centre, and Chestnut Hill.

Next Monday, the 15-man Committee on Metropolitan Affairs is scheduled to be polled as to their position on the proposed legislation which would recommend that the MTA extend rapid transit service over the Highland branch of the railroad.

LABOR OPPOSED

A labor spokesman insisted that abandonment of the line will mean a loss of jobs to 400 men. Harwood termed this figure "utterly ridiculous."

A threat of a strike, which under the Railway Labor Act would hold up contemplated abandonment of the line, was also hinted by another labor spokesman.

The MTA has estimated that it would cost about $12 million to convert the line for rapid transit purposes but even at this cost, it was also estimated that such a conversion would create a substantial profit for the MTA.

Ballet Program to Be Presented

Saturday, April 27 at 2 p.m., the Fine Arts Committee of the Memorial School PTA, Oak Hill Park, is presenting another ballet program which will be performed by the Alicia Langford Boston Ballet Company entitled "Dances—Then and Now."

Dances, to mention a few, will include selections from Nutcracker Suite, Dance of the Hours, Tango and Charleston. It promises to be a delightful performance and we know you won't want to miss it. It will take place at Memorial School.

During 1956, there were 2200 more highway traffic fatalities than in the previous year.

Political Overtones

pointed out that it would be virtually impossible to produce a formula for distributing the sales tax receipts that would satisfy everyone. That, however, doesn't make his fight any easier.

From the maneuvering already underway at the State House it seems clear that Furcolo, who has placed his own personal and political prestige squarely on the barrel head, is going to do everything within his means to win his sales tax fight.

If he can't sway the lawmakers with his arguments and pleas as to the need for the sales tax, he may be able to pressure them into line with the most powerful weapon at his command—that of patronage.

While next week's hearings on the sales tax issue will command widespread attention and will be carefully observed for an indication of how the winds are blowing, they will be only a prelude to the more important full-dress conflict to be waged in the main body of the Legislature.

It will be in the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives that the Furcolo sales tax bill will meet its first critical test. Unless it weathers the storm in that legislative chamber, it will never reach the State Senate where Senator John E. Powers, arch-foe of the measure, will be waiting to spearhead the fight against it.

A large percentage of the Republican legislators are still following a wait-and-see attitude toward the sales tax. The GOP lawmakers don't want to assume the responsibility either for passing or killing the bill.

Republican leaders are willing to try to put a majority of their party members in the House on the line for the sales tax proposal—if Furcolo can line up a majority of the Democrats.

But they are not willing to rescue Furcolo or to furnish a majority of the votes for the passage of the bill. In other words, they will not accept the responsibility for enacting the measure, while a majority of the Democrats vote against it.

Our present opinion is that the odds are still strongly against the sales tax bill and that Furcolo still is confronted with an uphill struggle on the issue.

State Pension Abuses Excessive

Abuses of the pension system in the State, city and town governments in Massachusetts have reached the point where they are just about fantastic.

Unless some steps are taken to curb these flagrant and widespread abuses, particularly under the so-called disability retirement law, the pensions of workers who spend a lifetime in the public service and pay a portion of their earnings in a retirement fund over a period of years are going to be jeopardized. The gravy bowl is simply going to run dry.

Senator Philip A. Graham has been protesting for years about what amounted to a disability pension racket, under which employees sought and obtained retirement because they were incapacitated and supposedly no longer able to work and then promptly went out and got comparable jobs in private industry.

Graham has fought unsuccessfully for the enactment of a law under which the total pension and earnings of a person retired because of disability could not exceed the maximum wage for the job he held before his retirement. That would seem to be a very reasonable provision, but Graham has been stymied in his efforts to place it on the statute books.

A case which pointed up the weakness in the disability retirement law occurred recently in Springfield, where a former police officer retired because of disability in 1939. He has been collecting a pension since then. Now it develops that for the past 10 years he also has been working as a prison guard, and he is seeking to retire from that job on grounds of disability.

Attorney General George Fingold has ruled that under the present law it would be legal and possible for a man to draw two different disability pensions.

While this is a particularly spectacular and dramatic case, there have been hundreds of instances where persons asked to be retired, maintaining that they were no longer physically able to perform their jobs and then after getting their pensions went out and did just about the same work in private industry.

A few years ago a district court judge ran for Governor. One of the issues on which he campaigned in the primary was that he was in better physical shape to stand the rigors of the office than any of his opponents. Then when his court was placed on a full-time basis, preventing him from practicing law on the side, he applied for and was granted a disability pension.

Last year one of the candidates for the office of Governor was a man who had retired on a disability pension from a high State job.

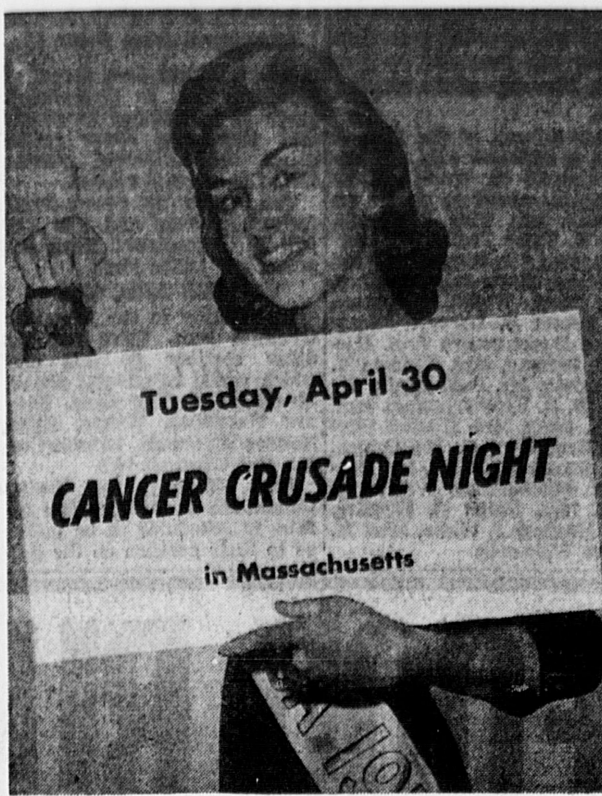

Nobody would deny a legitimately disabled person of a pension, but the abuses of the disability retirement law are becoming ridiculous, and the expense created by them piles higher and higher.

Senator Graham plans to put a referendum on the ballot next year which would take the profit out of disability pensions. When that issue goes on the ballot, the voters are likely to make reforms in the law that the Legislature should have made years ago.

Closed Meetings Undemocratic

If the bill which seeks to pry open the lid of secrecy, which too many boards on all levels of government have sought to clamp on their operations, gains the approval of the Legislature this year, it will be easy to pinpoint one of the reasons.

For a long time too many boards of selectmen, too many school committees, too many county boards — to

Recent Deaths

J. LILLIAN VANDEVERE

A Newtonville author of many books and songs for children, Miss J. Lillian Vandevere of 64 Wyoming road, died suddenly on the 19th of April in her 70th year.

Before her retirement, Miss Vandevere was a member of the editorial department of the C. C. Birchard Co., Boston music publishers. A native of Canton, Penna., she had lived in Newton for the past 15 years, and belonged to the Christian Science Church in Newtonville, where she taught Sunday school.

D. WALTER CARBERRY

D. Walter Carberry, 65, well-known in the rubber industry for over 35 years, died unexpectedly of a heart attack on April 17. He had made his home in Newton for the past 21 years, with his wife, the former Clara-belle K. Marshall, 124 A. Boyd street.

Born and educated in Maryland, Mr. Carberry was service manager for the Boston district office of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Co. Besides his wife, he leaves a son, John D. of Natick, and one granddaughter.

ALICE M. MCKENZIE

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale for Mrs. Alice Morey McKenzie, 61, of 26 Cheswick road, who died at her summer home in Pocasset last Saturday.

A member of the Auburndale Woman's Club, the Brae Burn Country Club, and the Oyster Harbors Club, Mrs. McKenzie was the wife of Ralph W. McKenzie, vice-president of a New York firm of manufacturers of bakery equipment.

A former manager of the Hy-dite Leather Co. of Brockton, he was retired from his position with Billings & Stover, Cambridge apothecaries.

One niece, Mrs. W. D. Sargent of Salem, survives.

PATRICK D. CALLAHAN

A Newton Centre native, Patrick D. Callahan, 83, died at the Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge last Friday after a long illness. He formerly lived at 41 Cummings road, and belonged to the Sacred Heart Holy name Society.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Ellen M. Foley of Upper Falls, and several nieces and nephews.

EMIL P. BERNARD

Emil P. Bernard, 73, who made his home at 26 Cedar street, Newton Centre, for the past 43 years, died suddenly of a heart seizure on April 18. He had returned two weeks ago from an extended Florida vacation with his wife, the former Marguerite Lahaise Beckner, whom he married 10 months ago.

Born in Boston, Mr. Bernard had retired six years ago as a statistician with the Boston Edison Co. He had been with the firm for 48 years. A member of the Sacred Heart Holy Name Society, he was also active as a stamp collector.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are two sons, Herbert of Wellesley, and Robert of West-ton, and two grandchildren.

MARY WALLACE COREY

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Mary Huntington Wallace Corey from her late residence, 85 Farlow road. A native of mention only a few of the offenders — have sought to cloak themselves with an autocratic power which was never intended for them.

The "executive session" device, by which such boards are permitted to thrash out privately matters in which a clear and unfair injury could be imposed on some person or group if the proceedings were conducted in public, was never intended for the universal use it has attained.

In its original concept, the executive session was intended to be the exception rather than the rule. In too many cases it has become the rule. The open meeting, with its emphasis on true democracy in action, has become the exception.

The closed meeting smacks too much of a public-be-damned attitude—too much of a theory that "we-the-members-of-this-board-are-a-law-unto-ourselves."

Closed doors and closed meetings are not and never will be conducive to good government. The open hearings bill pending before the Legislature is merely a natural reaction to the extremes which have been practiced too long by too many boards. They've been asking for years that some limits be placed on their powers of discretion. They've been proving for years they do not know how to use the discretion they've been granted.

On Memorializing Congress

The predilection of the Massachusetts Legislature for memorializing Congress has been pretty well established over the years. Whether it's a matter of national, international or even inter-planetary import, the Legislature doesn't hesitate to express its opinion when so inclined. The opinion, couched in the formal language of the memorial, is sent along to Congress. If Congress ever hears about it, it's usually because its members happen to read about it in the newspapers.

Usually, the Bay State Governor stands quite apart from this harmless practice. He may nod tacit approval when the Legislature expresses its disapproval of Tito, the late Josef Stalin or the advisability of diplomatic relations with the people of Mars. For most Governors in the past this memorializing business was just a bit of kibitzing which did no one any harm, even if it didn't do anyone any good.

This year, however, Governor Furcolo has got into the act.

He even took time out in his mid-January address to the Legislature to suggest a bit of memorializing. Now the committee on constitutional law has placed its okay on his suggestions. One would ask Congress to enact legislation to protect the textile, fishing and related industries of the State; the other advises Congress to place full responsibility for civil defense on the federal government.

To Go on Tour Of Religion

Faithful members of the Junior Congregation and the Aleph Congregations of Temple Emanuel, Newton, will go on a Tour of Religion this Sunday.

Immediately after class they will be treated to a luncheon in the Community Hall of the Temple by the PTA under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur Bloom and Mrs. Irving Drucker. They will then proceed by chartered bus to the Congregation Agudath Israel where they will be addressed by Rabbi Meyer Strassfeld on the nature of Orthodox Judaism.

From there they will proceed to Temple Ohabei Shalom where Rabbi Burton L. Padoll will address the students on the nature of Reformed Judaism.

The third part of the journey will take them to the three chapels at Brandeis University. There Rabbi Judah Stamfer, director of Hillel, will act as host to the group explaining the highlights of each. In each institution time will be allowed for a question and answer period. The students will return to the Temple at about 6 p.m.

MAYOR HOWARD WHITMORE, JR., has proclaimed the week of April 29 as the Newton Community Concerts Association week. He will also attend the kickoff dinner to be April 29. The Newton Community Concerts Association is a non-profit organization, formed to bring to this city and its environs outstanding musical artists. Shown above is the Mayor presenting the proclamation to the association chairman. In the first row, from left to right, are: Mrs. Samuel B. Horowitz, Mrs. Charles Robinson, Mayor Whitmore, Mrs. J. ## Sales Tax-tax rate, assuming, of course, that the city's expenditures remained unchanged after the sales tax went into effect.

THE BASIS

Here's the basis for the statements concerning Newton's outgo and income. If you will take a pencil and a piece of paper and follow along in our computation, you can figure it out for yourself.

Governor Furolo estimates that the sales tax will yield $112,000,000 in a year. Since there are approximately 4,500,000 men, women and children in the Commonwealth, that means that every person, adults, children and babies, would pay an average of $25 in sales taxes annually.

Newton, according to the 1955 census, had a population of 86,535. Those were the figures used by Furolo in the bill he submitted to the Legislature.

PURCHASING POWER

It would be our guess that the purchasing power of the people of this city would be higher than the average for the State as a whole.

If the average held for Newton, however, and its citizens paid $25 apiece a year in taxes, it would mean that the sales tax take from Newton residents in a year would be $2,163,375. As we pointed out earlier that is undoubtedly a conservative figure.

THE NOTRE DAME Alumnae Association will present its second annual Spring Pops concert in the Academy auditorium, Roxbury, Tuesday evening, April 30, at 8:30 p.m. The co-chairman, Mrs. Harold Sanford of West Roxbury, and Miss Carmelo Lauro of Roxbury have arranged with Harry Marsh and his orchestra to present a delightful program, featuring the score from "My Fair Lady." Tickets may be purchased from ticket chairman Miss Catherine Cusick of Dorchester. Making final plans for the Spring Pops Concert are, left to right: Mrs. Paul Callahan of Norwood; Miss Mary Lynch, alumnae president, of Newton; Miss Mary O'Neill of Roslindale and Miss Eileen Kearney of West Roxbury.

Now, according to the Governor's own table, Newton's share of the tax fund receipts, if $112,000,000 is raised, would be $1,456,640.

Where would the rest of the money paid by Newton residents go? Well, practically all of it would go to the State to help finance the operation of its government.

STATE TAKE 30 PC

The State will take a shade more than 30 per cent off the top. That would amount to about $850,000.

A very small amount of money, possibly about $50,000, would be diverted from Newton to the larger cities of the Commonwealth.

While this is tantamount to having a sum of money taken out of one pocket and a smaller amount put back in the other pocket, it probably is about as painless a method as there is on providing the revenue needed both by the State and its cities, including Newton.

THE HOME OWNER

It's difficult to see, however, how the sales tax makes possible any substantial saving or even any saving at all for the average home-owner.

A person who owned a home assessed for $15,000 would get a reduction of $77 in his real estate tax bill, if the estimates of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers is correct. The likelihood is that his family would pay more than $77 in sales taxes during a year, although, of course, it would pay it over a 12-month period and not in a lump sum.

May Enroll In Cabot Nursery

HAIR-COLORING EXPERTS

Anthony Davis PRESENTS HIS EXCLUSIVE BODY WAVE $10.00

The Body Wave is a form of permanent waving used on hair that either has a little natural wave or hair that waves easily. It does not add appreciably to the amount of wave already in the hair, but gives such strength and resiliency to the wave as to make the hair seem naturally wavy and remarkably easy to pull up. It is for hair to which the ordinary permanent wave (however soft) gives too much curl. It is not generally advisable for straight hair.

Rainy Spring Days Mean Tunnel Hike

Few people know the difficulties involved in changing classes at Newton High School. Unlike most schools, the students must change not only rooms between classes but also buildings. This presents quite a problem in good weather, because often as many as seven crowded flights of stairs must be climbed. Imagine the problem on rainy days, when a student must travel down three flights of stairs, through one or two crowded tunnels (depending on to which building he is going) and up another three flights of stairs.

Junior Boy Europe Bound

Each summer the American Field Service sponsors the exchange of a Newton student to a European country for three months. The student stays with a foreign family and is introduced to the society of his surroundings. This year's fortunate delegate, chosen from the junior class after months of screening, is Dick Cohen, who will leave for France in June.

Track and Hockey Teams Win 56-57 Laurels For NHS

1956-1957 was a banner year at Newton High School as far as sports were concerned. Graduating seniors can look back to a year of two championship track teams and a hockey team that gained second place in the G. B. I. League.

While some boys like nothing better than to toss a football around when the first brisk winds sweep across Dickenson Stadium, others don track shoes and start practicing for Newton's outdoor track team, the Harriers. The Orangemen outperformed other Middlesex County League teams to bring the coveted championship to Newton. After this brilliant rout of local teams, Newton earned an invitation to participate in the New England meet in Maine. Getting back to football, the Tigers, led by Captain Leo Hughes, won five games, while losing only one and tying three. The record book does not reveal that among those five wins were Brookline and Waltham, Newton's arch rivals. Undoubtedly, the Tiger's upset victory over Brookline was the high point of the season.

With the first below zero weather the winter sports take the lime light at N.H.S. Basketball, hockey, indoor track, and rifle team are the sports in which one may participate during the frigid months. Newton faced some talented opposition on the basketball floor; finishing the season with more than half of their games in the lost column. Well, as they say in Brooklyn, "Wait till next year." 1958 captain Bob Calvert and sophomore center "Vee" Rollins are two reasons why the Tigers are a Suburban League threat in '58. Jack Hall's proteges, who represent Newton at hockey games, succeeded in walking away with second place in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League this year. In the first game of the season, the Tigers set a new record by availing hapless Rindge Technical 15-0. The indoor track team was probably the most publicized sports team in 1956-57 because of a youngster that broke two or three records in the high jump—Marty Bekwith. Marty was only one of a very talented squad that swept through the season undefeated. Even arch rival Rindge Tech couldn't come close this year. Coach Ethier was optimistic about this year's rifle team. "The best team we have ever had," he said at the beginning of the season. A 5-1 record with two matches to go bears him out on the merits of the team.

With warm weather approaching, we can expect to see the first baseball game on the diamond behind Building 2. Although the Tigers have lost their pitching sensation of last year, Russ Halloran, they still are a very strong contender for the league title. One of the reasons that Newton has turned out such fine baseball teams in recent years is the excellent coaching, headed by Howard Ferguson, "Fergie"—as he is affectionately called—is considered one of the finest schoolboy coaches in New England. Tennis and golf are two spring sports that everyone at N.H.S. enjoys whether they make the team or not. Newton did quite well in tennis last year, despite the loss of Captain Ben Serkin at the beginning of the season. The golf team won every match last year and should do as well this year.

Years from now, when old graduates look back to the year 1956-57, they might call it a year of champions. They will most certainly call it a year of fond memories.

Tigerama a Knockout!

Tigerama a Knockout! This project, begun last year in an effort to promote interest in a student activity center on the Newton High School campus has become the favorite activity of many Newtonites. Sally Foote, of Newton Highlands, chairman of the 1957 Tigerama, has done a commendable job in presenting the students with five extravaganzas.

The last Tigerama featured Joe DeNucci, a Newton student himself, and Tony DeMarco in an exhibition boxing match. Shortly after the match the members of the Boston College Gym Team took the floor and kept the students spellbound with their performances on the parallel bars, the rings, and on the floor.

This is only one example of the entertainment offered at these programs. Often the Newton singing groups and quartets entertain. There is always a band and refreshments. All this for twenty-five cents!

"Senioritis" Will Be Cured June 8

The year's activities planned exclusively for the Seniors, which include the Senior Play, the Senior Supper, Senior Night, and the Senior Prom, will be climaxed on June 8 by the graduation ceremony. So far, both the Senior Play and the Senior Supper have taken place.

The Senior Play which featured Barry Bogard, Chris Marsh, Jane Little, Linda Fay, Joseph Burrows, Karla, Feinzig, Brian Havey, Linda Bailey, Mary Ann Cushing, Arthur Levin, Steve Richmond, Irving Krasner, and Jim Dangel was an excellent performance but lacked the support of the student body making it a financial disappointment. Senior Supper was an extravaganza enjoyed by the entire senior class. With about one month 'til graduation, the seniors are beginning to show signs of "senioritis," a disease which can be completely cured only on June 8.

Students Await New Principal

An excited and curious high school settles down to work this week after spring vacation, anticipating arrival of its new principal, Mr. Harold Howe. He has visited the high school before and had conferences with both the faculty and the class officers, but the majority of students have yet to become well acquainted with him. Mr. Howe was first introduced to the school at Tigerama No. 3.

Academic Honors

Richard W. Coleman, 12 Suban place, Newton Highlands has been awarded a full-tuition Presidential Scholarship at the Boston College Law School.

Coleman will graduate with honors from Boston College in June. His record in college along with his achievement in the nationally administered Law School Admission Test merited him the award of a grant worth at least $2,100.

At Boston College, he was president of the Historical Society, active in the Aquinas Circle, the Bellarmine Law and Government Academy and participated in intramural athletics.

Gerald J. Smith of Newton, an engineering physics major at Lehigh University, won a $1600 award in the recent competition sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Larimore B. Emmons of this city, also majoring in engineering physics at Lehigh, won honorable mention in the contest for fellowships.

Elected to Phi Kappa Phi honor society at the University of Massachusetts was David J. Snyder of 90 Larchmont avenue, Waban. Initiation into the group, which recognizes scholarship and character, was held on April 23.

Named to the Dean's List at Boston University's college of general education were Barbara Morey, 20 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, and Sonja Muelder, 82 Oxford road, Newton Centre.

At Babson Institute, five Newtonites have been placed on the Dean's List for the spring term. They are Richard W. Riley of Newton Centre, Tucker R. Miller and Joseph M. Clarke of West Newton, and Alan S. Golub and Benjamin Gilfix of Newton.

Students Vie For Honors

About one month ago today, 134 science-minded students of the Newton junior and senior high schools presented to their parents, teachers and friends the results of many, many hours of work.

The four first prizes were awarded to high school boys. These four were Reinier Beeuwkes, Frank Maurer, Bill Rousseau, Dushan Mitrovich and Fred Roisen.

There were in addition, twelve honorable mentions. Of these, five were awarded to high school students and seven were awarded to junior high school students. The winning high-schoolers were George Hergonrother, Josie Kaplan, Frank Maurer, Karen Rak and Gail Rogers.

While congratulating these 1957 winners, let's not forget to start our projects for next year's fair.

an Important message to MOTHERS of YOUNG CHILDREN!

How long would Dad's insurance last if your family had to live on it? Would there be enough to provide food, shelter, clothing, schooling?

Budget experts say that the very minimum insurance a typical father of young children needs is THREE TIMES his annual income. But few carry that much. Why? Some don't know; others think they can't afford it.

But Savings Bank Life Insurance has a plan especially for Dads with young children, called the Family Provider Plan. Here's how it works:

A man age 30 buys $5,000 Straight Life Insurance — pays $9.50 monthly (less dividends). But for just $1.95 more each month he can get Family Provider Plan coverage that gives him $16,910 additional IMMEDIATE protection, which decreases as his responsibilities lessen, each year.

Think of it — the same man, age 30, using the Family Provider Plan gets a great deal more immediate life insurance protection for just a little more cost.

So if your husband has said: "I know I need more life insurance but we can't afford it now," tell him about Savings Bank Life Insurance FAMILY PROVIDER PLAN. We will be glad to explain the plan to you — give you free folders. Remember, no one will call.

Curtis Bill Would Change Travel Tax

Cong. Laurence Curtis (R-Mass.) has filed a bill to amend the tax on travel to that passengers on overseas flights which make a routine stop at Boston will not have to pay an additional tax resulting from such stop, which they would not have to pay if the plane went right through.

He pointed out, that as Boston is nearly on the direct line of overseas flights from New York, it suffers particularly from the present law which naturally discourages airlines from scheduling stops at Boston.

The present system, said Curtis, creates an "artificial barrier" to having these planes make a stop in Boston; and of course it would be in the interests of that city to have as many of these planes stop at Boston as might be possible if this barrier were removed.
